BRUNSWICK STRIKE SETTLED

New 18-Month Contract OKd

. . . AT LINCOLN PLANT

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A 10-week-old labor dispute involving 47 union employes of the Brunswick Corporation was settled Tuesday night with agreement on a new 18-month contract.

Members of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers will return to work Wednesday at 3 p.m., Brunswick officials announced. . .

8-Cent Hikes

The agreement provides hourly wage increases averaging about 8 cents an hour for the first 12 months, management officials reported. Wage hikes for various categories of workers vary from 5 cents to 10 cents an hour.

Employes involved will receive an across-the-board four-cent-an-hour boost for the last six months of the contract period.

The new contract will expire May 1, 1967.

The agreement provides for automatic, instead of merit, wage increases for union employes, company spokesmen said.

Longer Lunch Periods

Also involved in the contract are additional lunch period times for employes on some assignments and funeral leave time effective December of next year, according to management officials.

Richard Shaw of Lincoln, chief steward for the union, said the agreement was ratified by union members at an 8 p.m. meeting. The ratification was "nearly unanimous," he said.

Employes will return to work for the second shift Wednesday.

Company and union representatives met Tuesday with representatives of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

The work stoppage began Sept. 22.

The Brunswick plant manufactures missile components and other defense products. The work stoppage involved production and maintenance employes.

Coon Likes Bike

. . . IF HIS MASTER PEDALS

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Hubbell—You can't hardly find coons no more that like to ride bicycles.

One who does show an uncommon penchant in two-wheeling here is commonly-named "Coonie." Fact is, master David Fangmeier can depend upon a passenger most anytime he wants to pedal.

"We have to speed right along, though," observed the sixth-grader, 11. "Coonie doesn't like to go slow."

Never penned, the six-month-old racoon has the complete run of the Art Fangmeier farm north of Hubbell. Ordinarily he naps by day and prowls the place as his own by night.

Pigs, calves, kittens and a few ex-goslings that grew into geese are companions on a farm that "really enjoys animals." Coonie threw in with the crew after being found a wilderness baby.

A bouncing German shepherd pup already shows promise that one day he'll be the big boy of this barnyard. But right now the ringtail is far in front—and bicycling.

CASE HEADED TO JURY . . .

Pope Defense Ends Rebuttal

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

The bank robbery-murder case against Duane Pope will likely be submitted to a Federal District Court jury of ten men and two women sometime Wednesday afternoon, Judge Robert Van Pelt said Tuesday.

The judge made this observation following prosecution and defense rebuttal arguments which concluded the psychiatric inquiries into the "whys" of the Big Springs episode for which Pope is charged.

All that remains before the jury decides the tall young Kansan's fate—he has admitted killing three persons and wounding a fourth during a robbery of the Farmers State Bank in Big Springs June 4—are final arguments. No further evidence will be submitted.

Closed Rebuttal

Pope closed the defense rebuttal by denying he engaged in a conversation with a former Big Springs resident during 1964 about past robberies of the bank.

The man, Gerald Johnson, now of rural Brule, testified Monday that he encountered Pope and one of the defendant's co-workers on a harvesting crew sitting on a street curb across from the bank between July 8-16, 1964.

Johnson reported that Pope asked him if the bank had ever been robbed. He said he told the two youths that it had been taken for $15-16,000 about seven years ago.

Resuming the witness stand and under questioning by defense attorney Robert Crosby, Pope denied the conversation and testified that he did not remember ever talking to Johnson or did he remember who he was.

Pope also told jurors about approaches used by prosecution psychiatrists during their interviews with him.

One, he said, "would not be satisfied with my answers. . . he would suggest other answers." Another, according to Pope, "didn't talk about the event, but about other problems like world affairs, racial problems and student riots."

Three other expert witnesses called Tuesday by U.S. Attorney Theodore Richling—Dr. John Macdonald of Denver, Dr. Chester Farrell of Omaha and Dr. Charles Rymer of Denver, all psychiatrists — agreed with earlier prosecution testimony that Pope was mentally competent at the time of the holdup.

All testified that in their opinion, Pope knew the difference between right and wrong at Big Springs, had the mental capacity to control his behavior and understood the consequences of his acts.

The psychiatrists said that Pope was not possessed with an uncontrollable urge or irresistable impulse to kill, nor could they find any evidence of schizophrenia, the mental disorder from which the defense contends Pope suffered.

Two, however, agreed with defense psychiatrists that Pope is "schizoid", a personality category more apt than some others to break into a psychotic state under stress.

Dr. Macdonald testified he found in Pope "a great deal of hostility which he could not express" and this unconscious hostility "may have found an outlet" in the bank robbery and shootings.

He said Pope harbored a "great deal of bitterness, anger and resentment," in large part directed against his parents and his college roommate, but the Coloradoan maintained he could find no evidence of schizophrenia.

Dr. Macdonald, who spent over fifteen hours interviewing Pope, stated "I am confident of that (my) opinion," when reminded by defense attorney Wallace Rudolph that his conclusions were contrary to the conclusions of defense psychiatrists.

Pen Inmate Faces Murder Charge

First-degree murder charges were filed Tuesday in Lancaster County Court against Nebraska Penitentiary inmate Charles McClelland in connection with the fatal stabbing Sunday night of another inmate, Emzy Thompson.

Lancaster County Atty. Paul Douglas filed the charges after an autopsy showed that Thompson died Monday from stab wounds.

Douglas said McClelland probably will be arraigned Thursday and that the defendant had indicated he would like to have a court-appointed attorney.

Douglas said counsel would be appointed for McClelland before his court appearance.

McClelland made a statement Tuesday concerning the Sunday night stabbing, according to Douglas.

The 36-year-old inmate is serving two life terms for the 1947 slayings of Mr. and Mrs. Robert May of Alexandria, Va., whose bodies were found near the entrance to Boys Town near Omaha.

McClelland was acquitted in 1954 of a first-degree murder charge in connection with the bludgeon slaying of prison guard John Claussen.

U.S., GM Settle Bus Trust Case

Washington (UPI) — The Justice Department, with an unprecendented agreement, Tuesday settled a 9-year-old antitrust case against General Motors Corp.

The agreement with GM is designed to limit the company's dominance of the bus manufacturing field and to strengthen and expand the market.

A consent judgment outlining the agreement was entered in U.S. District Court at Detroit.

Accused of Plot

General Motors was accused in a government suit on July 6, 1956, of conspiring with four bus operating companies to monopolize the manufacture and sale of buses.

Among practices alleged in the suit and forbidden by the consent judgment was the requirement that the companies, in return for preferential treatment, buy all or most of their buses from GM.

The suit was filed during the Eisenhower administration by then Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. It was to have come to trial Dec. 13 in the court of U.S. District Judge Theodore Levin in Detroit. Legal maneuvering and adjournments had delayed the trial up to now.

Stipulations

Donald S. Turner, the Justice Department's antitrust chief, said in announcing the settlement Tuesday that it included "two unprecedented stipulations."

These were:

—That GM reveal all bus patents it develops during the next 10 years and charge no royalties on the patents during the next five years.

—That the government may sue any time after 3 years but within 10 years to require the sale of any separate GM bus manufacturing plant if the bus market expands substantially or if a major competitor disappears, and that the company could oppose such a suit only on grounds that the market could not absorb a new purchaser.

If GM had only one bus manufacturing plant at the time, the court could order it to build another plant and sell that one. General Motors could oppose this order only on grounds that an economical new plant could not be built.

The Justice Department spokesman said the agreement should open the bus market for more competition. GM commands about 85% of the market, exclusive of school buses.

Best Expectable

To have moved more strongly against General Motors, the spokesman said, could have produced "higher prices and less quality" in the field. He said government lawyers view the settlement "as about as much relief as we could have hoped for."

When the Justice department originally filed the suit, it said, "General Motors possesses both the power to control prices and to exclude competitors in the market."

The suit charged that GM and Greyhound Corp. maintained an agreement for 23 years under which GM sold buses to Greyhound at discount prices and sold to Greyhound's competitors only with the consent of Greyhound.

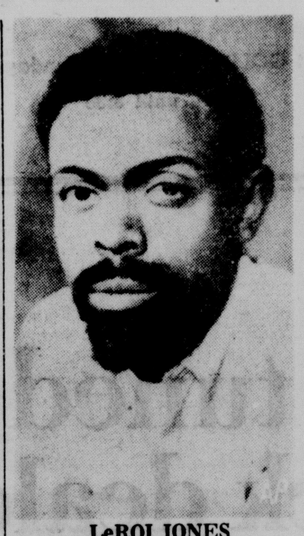
In exchange, according to the suit, Greyhound promised to buy at least three-fourths of its buses from GM.

Spending Federal Funds On Antiwhite Dramas Defended

New York (AP) — An anti-poverty program spokesman defended Tuesday the use of federal funds for a Harlem arts school where Negro youths stage dramas of antiwhite frustration and revenge.

"We'd rather see these kids fussing on the stage than on the streets," said James Kelleher, deputy director of publicity for the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington.

Kelleher made the comment after disclosure here of the Black Arts Repertory Theater-School, founded last April and coached by the violence-preaching Negro playwright, LeRoi Jones.



LeROI JONES

Pride In Color

The aim is "to re-educate the nearly half a million Harlem Negroes to find a new pride in their color," Jones says. "I don't see anything wrong with hating white people."

"This was a part of the Project Uplift program that we funded through HARYOU-ACT (Harlem's multimillion-dollar antipoverty program) last summer . . . ," Kelleher said. "The over-all program was a good one and we have to figure that this (the theater-school) was a part of its success.

"HARYOU-ACT wanted Jones in the program. He is a legitimate playright, whatever you may think about his views. We knew about it when we granted the money and we have no apologies."

Got $40,000

The makeshift theater, in a three-story tenement, received $40,000 during the eight weeks when 500 Negro youngsters attended classes in the arts, Negro cultural history, remedial reading, mathematics and what Jones termed "hard core nationalism," the playwright said.

He said additional funds come from the theater's productions and from benefactors he refuses to name.

Other sources indicate the federal share may have been much larger. HARYOU-ACT officials profess not to know since the agency's books are now undergoing investigative audit.

Not Now

George Nicolau, Northeastern OEO deputy director, said the theater is not now supported by antipoverty funds. "When HARYOU-ACT presented a formal contract to us for additional funding (of the theater) we turned it down," he asserted.

Some two dozen writers, sculptors and painters teach at the school and 12-15 actors form the core of the repertory company.

Their productions mirror the black supremacy, violence and antiwhite fury characteristic of Jones' work — which includes three off-Broadway plays, poetry, a book on jazz, and a recently published novel.

"The force we want is of 20 million spooks (Negroes) storming America with furious cries and unstoppable weapons," he once wrote. "We want actual explosions and actual brutality."

Hate 'Whitey'

Chalk-faced Negroes perform the roles of whites, frequently portrayed as homosexuals, in Black Arts Theater dramas which vent hatred of "whitey" and envision a day of Negro separation from the white world.

In Jones' off-Broadway play, "The Toilet," a short, scatological work, a group of young Negroes plot against a white homosexual who made overtures to a Negro. The scene is the boy's rest room of a high school and the white youth is dragged in and beaten.

A play he wrote for the school, "Jello," viciously travesties the old Jack Benny radio program. In it, Jones has Rochester, Benny's longtime Negro chauffeur, kill all the whites in the cast.

A police offical says of the theater that "as a group we don't feel they represent a threat."

Alexander J. Allen, executive director of the Greater New York Urban League, although seeing some danger of black chauvinism, says the theater may accomplish some good.

Spring Lake, N.J. (UPI)—Mary Anne Murray, 17, doesn't believe in tempting Lady Luck.

The high school junior has decided to quit buying raffle tickets while she's ahead. In the last year, Mary Anne has won three cars, a Ford Mustang and two Cadillacs.

The odds of accomplishing such a feat are about 1 in 150 million, according to Dr. Alfred Desclouz, a mathematician at Bell Laboratories in Holmdel.

In previous raffles, Mary Anne won a $200 hand organ and a $100 gift certificate.

POLICE RECOVER 'STOLEN' MERCHANDISE

By DICK BUDIG
Star Staff Writer

Thousands of dollars worth of merchandise allegedly stolen over a 12-month period was recovered by authorities from Lincoln, Lancaster and Gage Counties and the Nebraska Safety Patrol at a farm home south of Emerald Tuesday night.

One man has been arraigned in connection with the case and charges will be filed against a second man Wednesday, according to Lancaster County Sheriff Merle Karnopp.

Ed Crable, 31, Rt. 6, Emerald, was specifically charged Tuesday with the burglary of the Firth Lumber Co. He requested a preliminary which was set for Dec. 8. He is being held under $3,000 bond.

Bill Fry, 33, of 1224 No. 46th, against whom charges will be filed Wednesday, signed a statement Tuesday implicating himself and Crable in the break-ins, Karnopp said.

Crable and Fry were arrested after articles found in a stalled auto linked them with the Sunday morning break-in of a tavern in Bennet, Karnopp said.

He said statements taken from Fry have cleared up four major break-ins which occurred in Lancaster County within the last 30 days. The four break-ins were at Hickman, Firth, Waverly and Davey, Karnopp added.

In all, he said the statement taken from Fry Tuesday indicates there may be 50 to 60 break-ins or burglaries involved.

Authorities converged on the Crable residence about dusk Tuesday and began loading merchandise on two trucks from a Lincoln van and storage company.

Included in the booty, which filled a garage and partially filled the basement of the Crable residence, were guns, shells, drills, hand-winches, electric drills and sanders, radios, film, paint brushes, tool boxes, paint, fire extinguishers and other goods.

Main targets of the thefts were hardware stores, filling stations, homes under construction and lumber yards, Karnopp said.

Six Lancaster County Jail trusties helped authorities load and tag the equipment into the two trucks.

Karnopp said the merchandise will be viewed by businessmen in the area and returned if it can be identified.

Living Costs Record

RISE FASTEST IN 5 YEARS

Washington (AP) — Living costs, pushing the upper limits of what the government deems noninflationary, crept up another two-tenths of one per cent last month to a new record high.

But despite the most rapid rise in some five years, federal officials, in announcing the October figures Tuesday, still shied away from the scare word "inflation."

At 110.4, the Labor Department's consumer price index was up 1.8% since October 1964, compared with a 1.2% annual increase the previous five years. The previous high of 110.2 was reached in July and again in September.

Steady Rate OK

"We're still all right," said Assistant Commissioner Arnold Chase of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, "but it's very important that the rate not accelerate."

He predicted November will show another increase, primarily because of new car prices, and that the year may well end with a fat 2% increase in the index.

The October index means it cost $11.04 to purchase basic family needs and a few luxuries worth $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

Groceries Down

All major items—housing, clothing, transportation and medical care — went up in October except groceries, which declined two-tenths of one per cent.

In terms of purchasing power, the 1957-59 dollar was worth 90.6 cents in October, compared with 90.7 cents in September and 92.2 cents in October 1964.

Chase, who has frequently said that annual price increases of about 1.2% are considered noninflationary, declined to say what rate he would view as inflationary.

"It becomes more difficult to hold down prices as we approach full employment," Chase said, reflecting the view of many economists that a tight labor market tends to bid up wages and thus prices.

The nation's unemployment rate of 4.3% is the lowest since 1957.

Another factor in the more rapid rate of price increases this year, Chase added, was the increasing demand for higher quality goods.

"People with rising incomes buy higher quality products without realizing they are raising their standard of living," he said.

Zambian Force Plan Hits Snag

London (AP) — An 11th hour snag Tuesday night forced Prime Minister Harold Wilson to defer an announcement of British plans for sending token military aid to Zambia.

A message from President Kenneth Kaunda, British informants said, showed some objections to certain of the conditions laid down by Wilson in his offer to provide a token force.

As a result, the sources said, the question of British aid for the African-ruled Commonwealth nation on the northern frontier of rebellious Rhodesia has been thrown into some doubt.

Americans Freed By Viet Cong Criticize War

Phnom Penh, Cambodia (AP) —Two U.S. soldiers newly freed by the Viet Cong praised their captors and criticized the allied war effort in this neutralist capital Tuesday. Both told newsmen they expect harassment when they get home.

The soldiers are Sgt. George E. Smith, 27, of Chester, W. Va., and Spec. 5 Claude E. McClure, 25, of Chattanooga, Tenn., who were captured with two other Americans in a guerrilla attack on a special forces camp outside Saigon Nov. 24, 1963.

"I have known both sides and the war in Viet Nam is of no interest to the United States," Smith said. He reported he is returning home "so Americans can see the light about the war in Viet Nam."

Sounds Strange

In Chester, W. Va., Smith's mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Potts, said Smith's statements "just don't sound like him."

Potts suggested Smith is still under communist control and added that his 10-year Army record "hardly is the mark of a coward or a turncoat."

McClure's mother, Mrs. Agnes McClure, commenting at her home in Yonkers, N.Y., on her son's remarks, said, "I think when a person has been penned up he's liable to say anything." Then she added: "I just want to see him. When can I see him?"

Smith Talks Most

Smith did most of the talking at a news conference sponsored by the information ministry, which regularly denies Saigon charges that Cambodia is a sanctuary for border elements of the Viet Cong and communist North Vietnamese troops.

Both said they were treated well during their two years of captivity. Smith said he believed their liberation was "the direct result of protests in America against U.S. involvment in the Viet Nam war."

The Viet Cong announced their release Saturday, the day of a march for peace in Washington. The guerrillas said the two were being freed to show good will toward Americans opposing the war.

Crossed Sunday

Smith and McClure crossed the frontier Sunday and were brought to Phnom Penh Monday.

A Viet Cong emissary, identified as Le Van Diep, sat in on the news conference.

Emphasizing a communist demand for a U.S. withdrawal, he told the two ex-prisoners:

"Your return to the United States is the prelude to the departure of American troops from South Viet Nam."

McClure said the guerrillas cared for his wounds, shared their food with him and allowed him Red Cross packages and mail from his family.

"Had it been the Saigon government, I would have been tortured," he declared.

McClure said the Viet Cong did not try to indoctrinate its prisoners. He said they gave him books to read and paper for his letters and that he did not do much work in the prison camp.

Departure Untold

There was no announcement as to when the two will leave Cambodia.

One of the two men captured with them in 1963, Sgt. 1.C. Isaac Camacho of El Paso, Tex., escaped last July. The other was S.Sgt. Kenneth M. Roraback of Fayetteville, N.C.

The Viet Cong announced Sept. 26 that they had killed Roraback and another American captive, Capt. Humbert R. Verace of Baltimore, Md., in reprisal for the execution of three communist sympathizers by the Saigon government.

Chief Marine Believes Freed GIs Brainwashed

Washington (UPI) — Gen. Wallace M. Greene, commandant of the Marine Corps, said Tuesday he believes the two U.S. GIs just released by the Viet Cong were brainwashed.

Greene said that would be his explanation of the statements attributed to the soldiers, who at a news conference in Cambodia spoke well of their treatment in captivity while criticizing U.S. participation in the war.

Marine Maj. Gen. William R. Collins, a member of Greene's staff who returned from Viet Nam last July, said the GIs probably were released because they were willing to make statements favorable to their captors.

Two Years

The two soldiers, set free after two years in captivity, are Sgt. George E. Smith of Chester, W. Va., and Spec. 5 Claude D. McClure of Chattanooga, Tenn.

Both Greene and Collins said in reply to questions that they had no information on brainwashing procedures that may be used by the Viet Cong. Collins said no Marines were captured while he was in Viet Nam.

A total of 25 other American servicemen are known to have been captured.

Book On Human Sexual Response Called Logical Step After Kinsey

St. Louis, Mo. (AP)—Washington University scientists say 12 years of pioneer sex research have yielded important discoveries in the fields of sexual inadequacy, birth control and the sex life of older persons and heart patients.

Dr. William H. Masters and Mrs. Virginia Johnson, who have conducted experiments with 690 volunteers, plan to publish a book early next year on human sexual response.

Masters calls the work in the physiology of sex the next logical step after Alfred C. Kinsey's research in the sociological aspects of sex.

A First

Masters, an associate professor of gynecology at Washington University Medical School, said his research will provide the first analysis of what happens to the human body under sexual stimulation.

He said the book, and a second one, "Human Sexual Inadequacy," should be invaluable to doctors as well as to ministers and social workers who try to advise persons on their sexual problems.

In addition, he said, the experiments led to discovery of a highly lethal vaginal substance in certain women. He said it could be the first injected natural contraceptive and might meet some religious objections.

"Any circuit judge will tell you sexual incompatibility—frigidity or impotency—is the greatest cause of divorce," Masters said.

The research team has treated hundreds of sexually incompatible couples.

"We have learned that 24 of the first 24 pairs considered the treatment successful," he said.

Masters said the research shows there is no reason why older persons cannot have normal sexual experience.

The volunteers, most of them married couples, are from a cross-section of the population of metropolitan St. Louis. Masters and Mrs. Johnson said the presence of both sexes in the laboratory made it easier to work with the 378 women and 312 men who volunteered. Half the volunteers were rejected after screening and interviews. Ages range from 18 to 89.

Movie Cameras

The laboratory where the experiments are carried out is equipped with movie cameras and scientific apparatus, including electrocardiograph and brain-wave equipment.

There has been some criticism of the work but Masters said it is not formidable.

"The real question is whether sexuality should be subjected to science or not," he said. "We believe it must be to dispel the phallic fallacies in our culture."

All Gemini 7 Signals 'Go'

Cape Kennedy (UPI) — Preparations for Saturday's launch of Gemini 7 astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell spread around the globe Tuesday with all reports "go" for the opening of the historic space rendezvous attempt.

Even a preliminary weather outlook for the start of the mission was good.

"Everything seems to be going along fine," said a spokesman for the federal space agency. "There are no problems."

The major preparation of the day was a dress rehearsal for Gemini's worldwide network of 23 tracking stations. They must follow the 14-day flight of Borman and Lovell and still maintain a two-day watch on the maneuvers of Gemini 6 chase pilots Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford.

Two Californias Advocated

Sacramento, Calif. (AP) — A state senator has renewed the old argument on splitting California into two states. This time, he says, the people want the state divided.

Republican Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, from San Mateo County near San Francisco, said Tuesday California is just too big.

"We have a population of 19 million, and this single state is now larger than about three-quarters of the governments of the world," Dolwig said.

"This means that we have big government, becoming hard to control . . . The bigger it gets, the further from the people and the further from local control."

Northern Californians write him, he said, favoring division of the state about 10 to 1. Southern mail runs about 50-50.

But, Dolwig said, votes on reapportioning the legislature indicate a strong southern sentiment favoring division of the nation's most populous state. Those against reapportionment indicate a preference for splitting California, he said. Reapportionment gave control of the senate to Southern California.

Incorporates

Monday, Dolwig obtained incorporation papers for the Founders of the States of California Inc. and said officers would be picked in January.

The organization's main purpose is to split California at the Tehachapi Mountains, about 100 miles north of Los Angeles.

Making California into two states isn't a new idea. The senate last June passed a bill proposing division of the state, but it was killed by an assembly committee. The senate was at the time embroiled in the reapportionment program.

Under reapportionment, both the aseembly and senate are controlled numerically by six southern counties. Previously, the six counties controlled the assembly, while rural northern interests ran the senate.

Dolwig, an attorney who has served 19 years in both houses, contends that making Los Angeles the focal point of government will result in bossism.

Division, he said, would give Northern California a senate of 20 members from the San Francisco metropolitan area and 20 from outside that area. The Southern California senate would have 21 from Los Angeles and 19 from without.

It would cost up to $250,000 to advance his plan, Dolwig said. Money is coming from individuals, he added, but no organization has joined in support.

There has not been such a division of a state since the Civil War, when West Virginia was formed. To split California would take approval of both the senate and assembly, a state constitutional amendment approved by both houses and voters, and approval of Congress. Dolwig hopes for all this by 1972.

Nebraska School Board Target Of NSIA Attack

Alliance (AP) — There was a call Tuesday for the State Board of Education to "learn the source of misinformation" from the department in the last three months and ask for the dismissal of "those irresponsible public servants" involved.

The demand was made in a resolution laid before the Nebraska School Improvement Association. Cited in the resolution were:

— "Communications from Dr. Floyd Miller to all newspapers in Nebraska concerning LB89½ in which he erroneously stated that no two Class I schools could any longer be consolidated.

— "Directive stating that Class III schools could not become part of a Class VI district.

— "Letter dated Nov. 18 to all county superintendents in regard to conducting district area meetings in which nominees were to be selected for submission to the governor."

In regard to the latter point, another resolution called for NSIA Secretary S. H. Brauer Jr. to appear before the State Board of Education to "protest the illegal manner used in selecting the candidates named to be sent to the governor for his consideration in making appointments for governing bodies provided under LB301," which created educational services units.

A letter circulated among the delegates said school board presidents should have been permitted to set limits on the number of candidates nominated, or to provide for an election of candidates to be submitted to the governor.

Seek Rule Revision

Another resolution was aimed at revising proposed rules and regulations for public elementary schools. Brauer had told the convention that the regulations would reduce present rural schools from eight grades to kindergarten through sixth grade.

NSIA members elected five directors and chose Broken Bow as the site for the 1966 convention.

New directors elected are: Arnold Gadeken, Kimball; Victor Dierking, Tecumseh; Louis Skokan, Verdigre; Marvin Richards, Albion; and John E. Halloran, Hastings.

A Navy spokesman said Fritz was accidentally shot Sunday night by another marine in a "mock quick-draw contest" as they stood sentry duty at the West Loch Naval Ammunition Depot in Pearl Harbor.

Fritz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Fritz, of Falls City, was struck by a slug from a M-14 rifle fired by PFC. John A. Oliver, South Coventry, Conn., the spokesman said.

First degree murder charges were filed against Albin Madura, 65, former Fullerton policeman, with arraignment likely Wednesday morning, according to Nance County Attorney Philip Morgan.

The fatal shooting reportedly followed a discussion between Madura and Schumacher regarding the former's welfare payment. Schumacher was chairman of the County Welfare Board as well as a county supervisor.

Memorial Pens Go To Boys Town

Omaha (AP) — Two pens used by President Johnson to sign a bill authorizing the erection of a Father Flanagan memorial in Washington were turned over to Boys Town Tuesday.

The pens were presented by Rep. Glenn Cunningham, R-Neb., to Msgr. Nicholas Wegner, Boys Town director. He said they will be placed in the Boys Town museum for public viewing.

Cunningham and Nebraska's two senators, Roman Hruska and Carl Curtis, sponsored the federal government to provide a Washington site for a monument to Msgr. Edward Flanagan, founder of Boys Town.

The President signed the bill Nov. 8.

Msgr. Wegner said Tuesday he will go to Washington after the first of the year to examine seven available sites.

"We want to have the monument built and ready for dedication in 1967, the 50th anniversary of Boys Town," he said.

The cost of the monument will be paid by friends of Boys Town, he added.

Msgr. Wegner said the monument "might be designed by either an Italian or French sculptor. I have already discussed the proposal with two Italian sculptors, but nothing definite was decided.

No German Blackout

Bonn, Germany (AP) — The kind of power failure that blacked out New York and other parts of the American North Atlantic seaboard Nov. 9 isn't likely in Germany, parliament has been assured. Replying to two opposition Socialist Party members, Wolfram Langer, No. 2 man in the economics ministry, said arrangements have been made to cut large consumers out of the power grid quickly in emergencies and divide the whole complex into "island grids."

Ashland Hearing On Salt Creek Report Planned

Omaha (AP) — Army Engineers have set a public hearing next month in connection with a Senate-ordered review of a report on Salt Creek and its tributaries.

The hearing will be at 10 a.m. Dec. 16 at St. Marys Catholic Church in Ashland.

The Senate Public Works Committee ordered the review of the Engineers' report. It will consider the flood and water resource problems of the Salt and Wahoo Creek basins and improvements which could alleviate flood problems and develop the water resources.

GOP Hopefuls Attend Fund Raising Gathering

Columbus (AP) — Republican candidates gathered in Columbus Tuesday for a "Meet the Candidates" fund raising dinner.

Among them were U.S. Sen. Carl T. Curtis, making his first public appearance since a plane crash Nov. 14 in which a bone in his shoulder was fractured.

Also on hand were rival candidates for the nomination for governor — Norbert T. Tiemann of Wausa, making his first bid in a statewide campaign, and Val Peterson, who was governor of Nebraska from 1947 through 1953.

Peterson, who expects to file for the nomination shortly, told the Platte County Republicans: "I come before the voters of this state with a record of public service. I can't evade it. I am proud of it. It can be studied by friend, foe and objective student alike."

Tiemann, a small town banker and business man, said the governor of Nebraska "should spend as much time and energy searching for ways to trim spending as he does in finding new revenues to spend." And he said the governor should insist that department heads "conduct their affairs in the same way."

Asks For Unity

Curtis appealed for unity among Republicans and for broadening the base of the Republican appeal to include constitutional Democrats, Jeffersonian Democrats and Independents.

Curtis said he finds many people concerned — about the war, growing government and deficits, give-aways, and the corruption and the decline of moral standards.

DOWNTOWN GATEWAY

Action At City Hall

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Zoning and annexation have formed a pretty steady diet for the City Council for some weeks now and the problems show no signs of going away. Neither problem is without interests both for and against it. There is the zoning applicant on one side and often the city and usually some other property owners on the opposition side.

In annexation there are those who prefer to remain outside the city limits and the city that wants to take them in. Obviously, the council will make no decisions that produce good feelings all around. Fortunately, the council knows that it is not its job to make everybody happy and doesn't shy away from the hard decisions. Annexations seem to be coming by the dozens these days and there are few of them that are not worth the consideration they are receiving. Any annexation will have some peculiar characteristics to it simply because of its nature.

Facing Hard Choices

When you talk about annexation, you talk about an area whose character is changing from rural to urban. Thus, it is an area that might not be totally one thing or another, leaving room for considerable controversy. But such controversial situations are the mark of an intelligent annexation policy on the part of the city government.

It means that the city is being fair with all those already on its tax rolls and is attempting to avoid some of the costly pitfalls that can come with a lax annexation policy. Mayor Dean Petersen is absolutely right when he flatly states that areas "contiguous and urbanized which get city protection and utilities" should be annexed as soon as possible.

The mayor could even greatly expand his statement if he cared to. There are many more things to think about than the protection and utilities of the city. There are all the benefits of the city such as its parks and recreation programs and its general economic activity. The fact is that without the city, there would not be most of the areas about which we speak today for annexation. Do you suppose, for instance, that the Knolls would be in existence today if it were not for Lincoln? Of course not. Would the industrial tract south of Lincoln or the Peterson tract for home development be in existence if it were not for Lincoln? Not on your life, they wouldn't be. And what would be the value of 84th and O or of West Lincoln if it were not for the city of Lincoln? Very little, if anything other than agriculture.

Why shouldn't such areas help support through taxation the city and government by which they benefit? Why should they have a free ride on city taxes while the rest of us pay up every year for whatever public services we enjoy? Many people living around the outskirts of the city earn their living in Lincoln, drive our streets, use our hospitals and enjoy the protection afforded by a vast array of city services. It is an injustice for them to be permitted to avoid city taxes. Additionally, there is the matter of intelligent municipal development.

The urbanization of areas around the city as rural property constitutes an inefficiency that is costly in the long-run. Land is plotted to larger, uneconomical tracts, utilities are installed with no thought of tomorrow, street patterns are laid out for the convenience of the day and speculation in land prices is encouraged.

The city needs a strong and forceful annexation program and it is hoped that members of the City Council stick to their guns in annexation matters that come before them. Much the same thing applies to zoning, although one point might bear further examination.

Zoning definitely is not something for the convenience of a developer or land owner. It is a program aimed at the protection of all land owners in general and at the stabilization of land uses and prices. The city has turned down, however, a request for business zoning at 84th and A on the grounds that there is ample zoning elsewhere. This is not sufficient reason. If 84th and A is ultimately to be zoned for business, which may or may not be the case, it should be so zoned today. In other words, the city's land classification plan might well be extended in area from what it covers today.

84th And A Zoning

In general, however, zoning requires a lot of unpleasant decisions and it is the responsibility of the city government to view the subject in broad terms and for the general welfare of everyone. Zoning and annexation will always bring controversy but you can't have it any other way if you hold the future in any regard at all.

"... As My Stand-In, Bob, In The Next Scene You Get Scalped And Run Over By A Stampede! What Would I Do Without You?"

An Uneasy Future

Many people will wonder about the report by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara that we have stopped losing the war in Viet Nam. That is a strange kind of analysis for a situation that is strange in many respects. If we have stopped losing the war, the logical question is whether we have started winning it.

It would seem to follow that we had started winning if we have stopped losing but such is not necessarily the case. There is such a thing as a stalemate and that would seem to be the end result of current thinking. The final question, then, is whether a stalemate is good enough.

Before the fighting can stop in Viet Nam, our current policy would seem to dictate communist withdrawal from the battle. Just how realistic is that eventuality? It would not seem to be very realistic in light of the endless supply of manpower that is available to the Asiatic communists as well as the concentration of resources that the communists can bring to bear on the war.

Are we prepared to fight in Asia if it takes, say, another 20 years? Probably we have not made any such decision and surely the American people as a whole have not. Without faulting our current efforts in the war, one still can examine developments as they might take place over the next decade or two.

McNamara has said it is not our aim to destroy the communist regime in North Viet Nam, but rather, to destroy the Viet Cong who are seeking to take away the independence of South Viet Nam. What the American people are becoming uneasy about is whether we can achieve the former without the latter. It is wished that the ultimate U.S. objective and the means of achieving it could be more clearly outlined by the administration. McNamara's report will do little to quiet what promises to be a growing discussion of the Viet Nam situation.

Federal Aid Allocations

Nebraska is in line to receive $775,000 under the Federal Education Act for the purpose of providing library books, texts and visual aid material to schools that need them.

There is a state constitutional question involved here. Are private schools and parochial schools eligible to participate? The Nebraska Constitution is read by many to say that public funds cannot be so distributed; that only the tax supported state public school system can receive public money. There is also an incidental question regarding the definition of public funds. Does it mean money raised by a state or one of its subdivisions, or does it seek to prevent the distribution of federally supplied money.

These are questions for the men with legalistic microscopes to solve. Certainly the constitutional provision was passed before the federal government entered the educational field. We have no idea how it will come out. That will depend upon the ingrained convictions of those who are in charge of the decision. Lester Harvey, library consultant for the State Education Department, sees the allocation as acceptable regardless of whether it goes to public school children or to them and to parochial and private school children.

It is to be hoped he is correct, for we are concerned here largely with the problem of upgrading the educational facilities, not for just certain children, but for all the children. We often forget that through habit of thought and through custom. We forget the children who are actually the whole reason for elementary education of any kind. It is the children we are trying to aid, not one of the various educational institutions.

Anti-Imperial Parley In Cuba

There is one so-called world conference we are sure the United States will not attend, nor even be invited. It will be held slightly more than 85 miles from our coast.

It is the proposed meeting of 100 nations dedicated to fight imperialism. It is scheduled for Jan. 3-10 at Havana, Cuba.

We understand this meeting was scheduled by communist leaders to replace the often postponed and finally cancelled conference in Algeria. That one was pushed by Red China, but fell through the floor when Algieria's Ben Bella, a left leaning leader, was removed as presiding officer of his country. Other things caused the earlier postponements, mostly a lack of sympathy for Red China's fierce course by the committed nations. And we suspect the Russians were also busy scuttling the affair.

Naturally the United States does not relish a great communist conference so close to its shores. It is a form of impudence the U.S. could well do without, especially since the Western hemisphere, with the exception of Cuba, is non-communistic.

But there is also the other side of the coin. Such a conference so close to home may intensify the resistance to Red doctrine in Latin and South America. We can stand the hurt pride better than the Reds can stand heightened resistance.

There is also a good prospect that Russian communism will experience a face-to-face confrontation with the Chinese brand and that will do the conference no good.

This is one forthcoming event which might move in any direction than the one intended. It is worth watching.

U.S. Stalemated In China-Russ Rift

WASHINGTON — The American embassy in Moscow has now obtained the full text of China's big blast against Soviet Russia, and it's a lulu.

It all adds up to, namely that the Russians are "double-faced," "cunning," "hypocritical," "have shamelessly emasculated Lenin's theory on the dictatorship of the proletariat," all because the new leaders of the Kremlin "have been busy running errands for the U.S. aggressors," and because "the new leaders have revealed in all its ugliness their support of the aggressor and their alliance with the United States."

"We absolutely refuse to serve as a pawn in their secret diplomacy with U.S. imperialism or help them cover up their assistance to U.S. imperialism," exploded the Chinese editorial blast.

They have even discarded the small figleaf Khrushchev used in order to feign neutrality. Small wonder that the U.S. imperialists are gleefully hailing a 'new era' of U.S.-Soviet cooperation."

The Chinese even accused their Russian comrades of table-pounding at the United Nations. "They repeat Khrushchev's despicable stock tricks at the meetings of these international organizations, rely on behind-the-scenes manipulation as well as open trouble-making and even resort to such ludicrous tactics as banging tables and stamping their feet."

So runs the line of Chinese invective against their supposed partners in the world of Marx and Lenin.

☆ ☆ ☆

The diatribe focuses attention on what is probably the weakest spot in the Johnson foreign policy. For at a time when Russian-Chinese relations are sour, American-Russian cooperation should be good. But the opposite is true.

Simultaneous with the Chinese barrage, the Soviet was sentencing to eighteen months' labor an American tourist who had strayed across the border, ousting the correspondent of the Washington Post, questioning renewal of the Soviet-American cultural agreement, and putting Red Army marshals in new positions of power.

There are three reasons for this hardening of Soviet policy toward the United States:

1.—There has always been an anti-American clique inside the Kremlin, and U.S. operations in Viet Nam have strengthened it.

2.—Some anti-Americanism is aimed at disapproving the Chinese accusation that Moscow is the lackey of Washington.

3.—Most basic however, is the Johnson administration's failure to realize the tremendous changes that have occurred in Russia and take advantage of them.

Cooperation Parley Changes Direction

WASHINGTON—The White House Conference on International Cooperation this week has collided with the increasing heat and casualties of the Viet Nam war and is coming off a decided second best.

It could hardly displace the war in the thoughts of Americans these days, no matter what official efforts were put forth to make it important. But the fact is that all recent White House planning has been designed to present it as the work of a little group of serious thinkers, all private citizens.

The original set-up called for two chairmen, one an official and one a citizen, of each of the 30 working committees dealing with different aspects of international cooperation. The official chairmen were quietly withdrawn as the time for the conference neared.

Moderators of the panels for discussion of committee proposals are sternly enjoined in their instructions to stress that no government official endorses what the committee says.

Similarly, the vast piles of releases sketching the major conclusions of the 30 committees are all stamped as follows: "This release has been prepared by the National Citizens' Committee on International Cooperation. It is not an official conference document."

The message is coming over loud and clear to the distinguished participants of the conference. They can propose, but the White House will dispose.

☆ ☆ ☆

It is not quite what they hoped for when, on October 2, 1964, President Johnson announced his intention to call a White House conference to "search and explore and canvass and thoroughly discuss every conceivable avenue of cooperation that could lead to peace."

At the same time he designated 1965 as International Cooperation Year. This was in response to a United Nations resolution asking all member nations to do the same as a commemoration of the U.N's 20th anniversary. A cabinet committee and other officials joined with a U.N. citizens group in the first steps.

It has been apparent for some months that the timing was out of joint, but such conferences gather a momentum of their own and seem impossible to block. They have a built-in hazard. Emotion tends to grip them and produce unexpected effects.

This is what happened at a recent White House conference on civil rights, which the President confidently hoped would turn inward on problems of Negro family life as well as outward on government responsibilities.

Instead, the conference looked outward only and seemed to regard the gentle Daniel P. Moynihan, whose studies of minorities are accepted classics, as the enemy. Yet it was Moynihan who has so greatly helped to show the President the nature of the problem.

Discussion panels can always get out of their allotted grooves. A Johnson intimate suggests rather grimly that any icy rebels will find that their names are mud at the White House.

Still, the true believers in international cooperation will not be discouraged, and their educational efforts are valuable if not official. It may take longer, that's all.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Issue Is All-Out War Or Not

WASHINGTON — Reports from the ranch in Texas have President Johnson working hard shaping the new federal budget he must submit to Congress. But the decisions on the budget are only part—a small part—of a far larger decision that cannot long be evaded.

In his historical perspective that decision looms as one of the most momentous an American President has ever had to make. In essence, it is whether the war in Viet Nam is to become a full-scale conflict, recognized as such, or whether it will continue to be a part-time war representing only one phase of the policy of containing Chinese communism.

Hardly anything whether on the domestic or the foreign side, lies beyond the shadow of this decision. As yet it has not reached the top. But the summit is anticipated in a snowfall of position papers in blizzard proportions from at least a half-dozen agencies.

For the first time from Saigon, coincidental with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's visit, the figure of 300,000 American ground troops was used. The present total is 165,000. Only two months ago McNamara ridiculed the suggestion that a million Americans might be committed on the ground. To talk of half that number was only half as ridiculous, he said. Consistently his pronouncements on the war have been overly optimistic.

☆ ☆ ☆

The parallel with the Korean war has from the beginning of escalation been obvious. So far as numbers of men in action there is still a long way to go. During the three years of Korea the Army committed a total of 2,834,000, the Marines 424,000 and the casualties were 157,530 dead and wounded.

But the political paraliel on the domestic front is closer. From the Republican opposition led by Richard Nixon the demand is rising for bombing the crowded industrial area of Hanoi and the port of Haiphong. That clamor will be louder when Congress returns in January.

The claim of Gen. Curtis Le May and others of the big bomber school is for a quick victory and by implication an easy victory. Between the lines the meaning is that all those ground troops would be unnecessary if only communist men and supplies were to be denied. That is nearly identical with the "privileged sanctuary" contention in the Korean war. The advocates of bombing in China across the Yalu River insisted that this would bring the war to a quick and triumphant end. President Truman resisted that demand and was roundly denounced for it.

The decision for President Johnson is tougher, if only because in Korea the war was fought under the United Nations flag and virtually every country outside the communist bloc supported American aims. In the Viet Nam war even America's outwardly loyal allies have grave private doubts about the American commitment to a land war in Asia and its ultimate outcome. As for carrying the bombing to the industrial north, allied opinion is reported overwhelmingly opposed. One of Prime Minister Harold Wilson's objectives in his meeting with the President in mid-December will be to urge restraint.

Recent samplings of public opinion in this country show an increasing trend toward "getting it over with" by bombing the industrial cities. This swing, as the casualties on the ground mount alarmingly, is in direct contrast to what is reported to be the major view, aside from the Joint Chiefs of Staff, in the rain of position papers.

In the opinion of those who weigh long-term considerations against possible immediate military advantage, the war would almost certainly be greatly enlarged. Despite what today seems an irrevocable split, Russia would be brought together with Red China if only in joint support of the North Vietnamese communists. Under that kind of partnership they would try to outdo each other in militancy. With Russian casualties on the ships in the port and on the missile bases around the northern capital Moscow would be compelled to mount a massive military effort.

The political significance of this in an election year is plain enough. President Johnson treasures a consensus as he treasures the polls showing his popularity rating in the first two years at a near record. A military decision on one side or the other is bound to bring strong dissent and even hostility. Republicans will renew their attack on the Great Society programs with the argument that the country can't afford them in the middle of a war.

And, meanwhile, back at the ranch the figure experts cover pages and pages. Yet whether the deficit this year is to be $8 billion or $3 billion and the next budget $105 billion or more must seem academic alongside the other decisions the President faces.

BOB CONSIDINE

Dr. Seagrave, 'Through White Heat'

NEW YORK — Dr. Gordon Seagrave, the legendary "Burma surgeon" who died last spring, succumbed as much to a broken heart as any of the other troubles that racked him—bad heart, malaria and chronic dysentary.

He had parlayed a love of his fellow man and a waste-paper basket full of surgical equipment discarded by the Johns Hopkins Medical School into a 200-bed modern hospital and nurses school at Namkham, Northern Burma.

When the Japanese came flaming into the region early in World War II, Dr. Seagrave and 18 of his Burmese staff joined Gen. Vinegar Joe Stilwell and his men on their long "We had the hell beaten out of us!" retreat on foot into India. Dr. Seagrave's skills with scalpel, needle and potion saved scores of lives under all but unbearable conditions.

☆ ☆ ☆

Then there came a great day when, as the war neared its end, Dr. Seagrave returned to Namkham. But his life's work lay in ruins. The hospital and school had been used as a Japanese headquarters and, as such, had been leveled by U.S. bombs.

Dr. Seagrave went back to work, rebuilding with the money he had earned on his books and articles. But that ran out by the middle 1950's. He was broke and sick when American friends formed the American Medical Center for Burma. Among them were Sen. John F. Kennedy, Milton Eisenhower, Mrs. Joseph Stilwell, Inez Robb, Marian Anderson and a man who owed his life to the doctor, Brig. Gen. Rothwell Brown, son of the famed Hearst Washington correspondent, George Rothwell Brown.

Dr. Seagrave's luck changed. His hospital grew to 300 beds and a complex of 25 buildings. He treated 10,000 patients a year with the help of an expanding staff which included Dr. Donald Olmanson of St. Peter, Minn., and Dr. Joseph Newhall of Bradenton, Florida. (Dr. Seagrave continued to pay himself his pre-war salary of $90 a month.)

Then something happened in Burma. It wanted no more truck with foreign interests. It showed no partiality: the bureau chief of Tass was given the boot the same day as the philanthropic Ford Foundation. Dr. Seagrave's last days were agonizing as he waited for the edict from Rangoon that would order him out. It came not long after he died, as if some bureaucratic heart had been touched enough to stay the blow.

It was not a case of money-down-the-rat-hole. In his time, the doctor had trained more than 1,000 nurses, instructed dozens of Burmese doctors. They continue the work of the man Ambassador Chester Bowles once called "the best of America overseas."

Dr. Seagrave's death moved many Americans to make contributions to the American Medical Center for Burma. They will most certainly not go to waste. A country with a need and a welcome has been found — South Korea. Through the American-Korean Foundation, a Dr. Gordon Seagrave Hospital and Nurses Training School will begin to rise there in 1966 like a reincarnation of that dedicated man.

☆ ☆ ☆

His bones lie in a little cemetery hard by the Namkham Hospital in accordance with the first article of his will: "When I die, whether from violence or natural causes, I wish my remains to be buried at Namkham in the Namkham staff cemetery."

His friend, Dr. Howard Rusk, believes the old man would have approved of the move to Korea.

"You don't get fine China by putting clay in the sun, you only get it if it goes through the white heat of the kiln," he wrote recently. "Sometimes in the firing, the piece is broken, fire breaks some pieces, life breaks some pieces, life breaks some people, disability breaks some people. But if through courage and opportunity and work you can have this conquering experience, then you have the depth of spirit that the so-called not normal person knows little about, I truly think this is synonymous with the experience of Korea and the life of Gordon Seagrave."

The Other Side

Denton, Neb.

So many times only the misdemeanors of college students are in the limelight. Recently two groups of University of Nebraska students undertook to do various kinds of work for all kinds of people, and collected their wages in canned goods. This in turn was distributed to the needy before Thanksgiving.

Our congratulations at this time should go to Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity and Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority.

Miss Kauffman

Lincoln, Neb.

The members of the Lincoln Outlook Club, one of the oldest women's organizations in the city, were much concerned over the announcement of a proposed reorganization of the reference department of the public library which entails the elimination of the services of Miss Bernice Kauffman.

We have found the guidance and help of Miss Kauffman to be invaluable to us in our research efforts and believe that her departure will be a distinct loss to the users of the public library reference department. It is possible that we have misunderstood the functions and purposes of the reference department. If so, we will welcome the publication of the new policy statement, as promised by the library board.

Pastor Asks Court To End 'Interference' From Bishop

The pastor of Denton Chapel of the Church of God in Christ at 2000 U asked Lancaster District Court to enjoin Bishop Booker T. McDaniels from interfering with the church meetings and services and from attempting to illegally remove the pastor.

The Rev. Charles S. Williams contends that the members of his congregation were dissatisfied with the defendant and had been granted permission from the national church to come under the jurisdiction of another bishop, Monte Joe Bradford.

The plaintiff alleges that the defendant has not complied with the national change and that he has attempted to remove the plaintiff as pastor of the church and has appeared at various church meetings and disrupted the church by taking over the services.

He contends that Bishop McDaniels has informed the congregation that he is in charge and that he has removed the plaintiff as pastor.

The petition states that the rules and regulations of the church require that in order for a pastor to be removed from a pulpit an investigation must be had and that a trial must be held before elders of the church after the investigation provides sufficient grounds for whatever accusations are being made.

The Rev. Mr. Williams seeks an injunction until after such trial of the plaintiff according to the rules and regulations of the church.

Permits, Fees Add Up To $261,722 In Lincoln

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Citizens of Lincoln paid a total of $261,722.58 in the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1965, for 29 kinds of permits and 22 different fees collected by the local government.

Permits for such things as air conditioning, automatic dry cleaning machines, demolition of buildings, food operators, house movers, child care centers, plumbing paving cuts, shuffleboard, signs, solicitations, storage tanks and use of space above public ways brought $152,762.21 to the general fund last year according to the 62nd annual city financial report.

Fees, which are paid by and for ambulance drivers, arborists, councilmen filing, milk inspection, taxi drivers' examination, plumbers' examination, inspection of mechanical amusement devices, zoning filing and water conditioning examination, amounted to $108,960.37.

Total assets and total liabilities and surplus of the city Aug. 31 was $1,658,096.45.

The report, prepared by Finance Director James Mallon, showed that a total of $6,068,378.65 had been appropriated for the general fund in the last fiscal year, but only $5,516,116.60 had been expended.

General fund receipts totaled $5,578,929 for the year.

Expenditures of all funds from Sept. 1, 1964, to Aug. 31, 1965, totaled $22,104,843.26, including moneys spent from the general fund, special revenue bonds, debt service funds, public service enterprises, trust and agency funds, working capital funds and special assessment revolving.

Public service enterprises amounted to $8,024,564.54, according to the report. The city received a total of $60,924.20 for selling services, supplies and materials. Rents collected came to $10,876.17.

County Care Nomenclature Problems Are Tackled

Attempts were made Tuesday to eliminate problems of nomenclature of the county convalescent care unit now under construction adjacent to Lincoln General Hospital.

Representatives of the hospital, the city-county health and welfare departments met with county commissioners and Mayor Dean Petersen to attempt to iron out confusion between the Lincoln General Hospital and calling the county's unit a hospital.

It was pointed out that the county unit is not actually a hospital and the general public will be confused in calling both it and the Lincoln General Hospital "hospitals."

A hospital official said that the convalescent care unit would be considered another separate unit of the hospital such as an intensive care unit is as far as the hospital staff is concerned.

It was tentatively agreed that the plaque would read: Lancaster County Health-Welfare Division with the following listed below the title, Convalescent Unit, City-County Health Unit and Welfare Unit.

RUDELL . . . inspects work on pool.

Kennedy Memorial Pool Could Open In January

Financing the enclosure of the John F. Kennedy Memorial Swimming Pool at the State Home for Children (Whitehall) in Lincoln reached its final phase with a $4,000 grant from the Eugene Eppley Foundation, Inc., Omaha.

Supt. Robert Rudell said he hoped students could take their first dip in the indoor pool by the middle of January.

Besides Whitehall students, Rudell said children from Cedars Home for Children and LARC would be allowed to use the facility. "We're not worried about keeping the pool busy," he said.

Use Held Up

The pool was completed this fall but its use was held up pending cold weather and lack of the enclosure and a suitable floor.

To complete the enclosure, two walls and a roof will be attached to the school building at 5701 Walker. When complete, the 40-by 90-foot structure will house the 25-by 52-foot pool, which is equipped with water heating apparatus.

Total estimated cost of the building is $9,480. Not included in that price is the cost of light and heat units. "Were still a few dollars short, but with the help of such organizations as the Lincoln Northeast Rotary, donations and careful planning, I think we will be able to swing it," Rudell said.

The Lincoln Northeast Rotary has been one of the driving forces behind the pool, Rudell added.

Bank Clearings Down For Month

Lincoln's four downtown banks Wednesday reported that November 1965 bank clearings totaled $59,114,076.

This compares with $62,670,410 for the same month in 1964.

The total for this year, January through November, is $607,327,770.

McPhee School Will Be Dedicated

Clare McPhee Laboratory School, Lincoln's newest elementary school, will be dedicated in ceremonies at 2:30 p.m. Dec. 12 at the building cooperatively used by the school district and University of Nebraska Teachers College.

The $675,000 school at 820 So. 15th will be presented to two Clare McPhee children, Linda Davis and Donald Workman, and PTA President Mrs. Garther Collins by Board of Education President Robert Wekesser.

Twelve classrooms, an instructional materials center, library, and auditorium are included in the facility built for 360 students. The building houses two units each of grades one through six and a kindergarten.

Carpeted Classrooms

Carpeting in four of the classrooms, air conditioning, and closed circuit television are other features of the school. Classrooms also include private teachers' offices and one-way mirrors to permit student teacher viewing of the pupils.

NU's share of the construction cost amounts to approximately one-third of the total. The Lincoln school district was to put up all immediate expenses, with the University's reimbursement share spread out over a 12-year period.

Clare McPhee, a combination of the 80-year-old Capitol school at the 16th and G site and Bancroft School which closed as population in the area decreased, was named after a principal who served at the Capitol School from 1909 to 1942.

Miss McPhee started teaching in the Lincoln school system in 1893 and later served as principal at Belmont and Hayward before settling at Capitol.

Died In 1960

Born in 1872, Miss McPhee was educated at home and in private schools in Canada. She received her B.A. degree from the University of Nebraska and M.A. from NU and the University of Chicago. She died in 1960.

Arnot Folsom, a friend of the McPhee family, will deliver the biographical sketch of Miss McPhee at the dedication ceremonies. Shool Supt. Steven Watkins also will be present to speak.

Catholics Becoming More Democratic, Ministers Told

"The Roman Catholic Church is leaning toward a more democratic and decentralized organization," Dr. George Lindbeck, associate professor of historical theology at Yale University told 200 university and college ministers gathered at the Nebraska Center for a three-day seminar on Methodist church education.

Dr. Lindbeck, recent observer at the Ecumenical Council in Rome on behalf of the Lutheran World Federation, said "the Council was held to project the 'self-awareness' of the Church but an increase in the 'other-awareness' and recognition of other denominations occurred."

Father Thomas Pucelik, formerly assistant chaplain of the Catholic Student Center at the University of Nebraska, agreed that the Catholic Church "is reaching a new mentality in which you can be critical and still loyal."

The two ministers addressed a Tuesday morning business session of the bi-annual seminar which is looking at "The Human Adventure in Ecumenical Perspective."

Dr. H. D. Bollinger, director of the department of college and university ministers of Methodist education, stated that the seminar regards the word "ecumenical" as embracing "the whole inhabited earth" and consequently should not be attached to only a few denominations.

The three-day seminar will be addressed in the afternoons by several University of Nebraska and Nebraska Wesleyan University professors in six sectional meetings of the disciplines of the academic community including physics, economics, philosophy, educational psychology, political science and biochemistry.

Nebraskan Home After Close Call

. . . In Viet Nam

Tan Son Nhut, Viet Nam—A veteran fighter pilot from Hershey, Nebr., spent Thanksgiving with his family rather than in the hands of Viet Cong guerrillas—thanks to his Air Force teammates.

Captain Charles M. Summers, 30, was flown from Viet Nam recently to his home station, Cannon AFB, N.M. A short time before his departure, he had been crawling for his life in a swamp 130 miles south of Saigon—after ejecting from his crippled North American F-100 Super Sabre.

Before parachuting from his stricken jet, Captain Summers had been part of a three-man flight attacking a Viet Cong troop concentration. His aircraft was hit by ground fire from the guerrilla forces.

"We were making our last strafing pass when I heard an explosion," the veteran of 124 combat missions said. "I lost control but managed to head the plane toward a friendly village."

As his Super Sabre moved toward friendly territory, Captain Summers kept trying to maintain sufficient altitude to eject. Then fire struck.

Hasty Ejection

"I lost control and more altitude. By the time I regained control, I was kinda low for ejection," he said.

Despite his low altitude, Captain Summers ejected hastily. The second loss of altitude had eliminated his chance of ejecting over the friendly village.

"I landed in a thicket in the middle of a swamp. There were three or four shots. I decided to get away from my chute."

It was at this time that the captain made two umpleasant discoveries. He couldn't stand or walk, his back was injured (Later diagnosed as compression fracture of a vertabrae).

Radio Not Working

His second discovery was that his emergency rescue radio wasn't making good contact. There was only one thing to do—start crawling!

Meanwhile, overhead the other members of his flight had not wasted time. A rescue helicopter had been called for and was on its way.

Two F-100s of Captain Summers' 481st Tactical Fighter Squadron (Tactical Air Command), piloted by Major Bob Finley, 35, from Seattle, Wash., and 1st Lieutenant Dale Sprotberg, 28, from Tucson, Ariz., were orbiting the area ready to beat back any Viet Cong who attempted to reach the downed pilot.

Painfully he crawled around the roots of trees through murky water a foot and a half deep. Finally, he stopped about 150 yards from his chute.

The rescue chopper arrived and dropped down by the abandoned parachute. Captain Summers saw them and attempted to stand to draw their attention to him. He couldn't!

Quickly he fired two flares. The orbiting F-100 pilots spotted the flares and radioed the crew of the copter the location of their buddy. Captain Summers, meanwhile, had started crawling toward the copter. Moments later, he was aboard the rescue aircraft and on his way back to his home base at Tan Son Nhut.

At the dispensary it was estimated that the pilot would be recovered in four to six weeks. He was evacuated to Cannon AFB where he was reunited with his family.

POSTCARD by

It is my opinion that the mink will go the way of the coonskin coat and the buffalo one of these days. Therefore it is probably fitting that we set down some of the customs of this curious era. For curious historians.

In the year 1965 the mink reached a peak of popularity.

Every lady had a mink coat. Or was about to get a mink coat. Or said, "Heavenly days, I wouldn't be caught dead in a mink coat. I think it's rather vulgar."

(Not many ladies said this, I will admit. And not many meant it.)

Personally, I would not be caught dead in a mink coat. Mainly because I do not care to be caught dead. This is a new and clever reason. But anyway I am talking to the historian in the year 2965.

☆ ☆ ☆

How are things in 2965, Mr. Historian? What are ladies wearing to make other ladies die with envy?

Well, how about mink. Mink in my day, Professor, is mighty important material.

Mink used to run wild. They ate fish heads and swam in the rivers.

I don't think anybody wears wild mink these days. If they do they are mighty poor potatoes.

To wear wild mink, you must first catch your mink.

To wear silverblue mink, you must first catch a man.

It is hard enough to catch a man without complicating it by catching a mink-catching man. Mink-catching men are apt to live in Canada. And who wants to live that far from the Pump Room?

☆ ☆ ☆

It would certainly give you plenty of laughs, Mr. Historian. If you could see the mink situation.

Around our wattly hut village, all the boys are chipping flints like mad to get enough wampum to buy these skins.

Imagine you wonder how gentlemen get involved in this heavy sugar clothing. Well, it was gentlemen themselves who raised the price of mink. Until it was unbearable to the gentlemen themselves.

It was not the mink. Mink are for nothing.

It is style.

Mink ran wild. After awhile some gentleman said:

"Look at all these mink running wild and no place to sleep and hardly enough fish heads to scoff. I will feed and house these minks," he said, "and thus rack up plenty points for being kind to animals."

☆ ☆ ☆

I know this makes no sense. But this was the way we did it a thouand years ago.

There were so many mink they would have become very cheap. And everybody would have had them. And if there is anything that does not sell to ladies, it is something everybody has.

So the mink people put "style" into it. Style means jacking up the price. A gentleman who cuts mink skins gets $600 a week in our age. This adds to the cost.

The manufacturer must put on a topper. Else he cannot buy his wife a mink coat. The store must double the price. For the owner must shell for a mink for his lady.

In this way, the price went up and up. And ladies wore circles under their pretty eyes until they could have a mink coat. And the men who made the coats kept upping the price. So they could buy them mink coats.

And this went on and on. But you probably don't believe me anyway. What are the ladies wearing in 2965? Probably back to the buffalo robe.

Hamsters' Learning Is Injected Into Rats

New York (AP)—Some knowledge and memory now have apparently been transferred from one animal to another kind—by needle injection.

The needle contained a chemical from the brains of hamsters trained to do a particular thing. Rats getting the injection, in their bellies, quickly showed some ability to do the same thing, without any training.

This experiment, reported Tuesday by California scientists, marks a fascinating new step in research to solve the puzzle of how the living brain learns and remembers knowledge.

Answers, when and if they come, might help humans learn and remember better, or could even lead to development of pills to spur faltering memories or possibly to wipe out painful memories.

Exploring Memory

The experiments aimed at exploring the mechanism of memory are described in the November proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences by Frank R. Babich, Allan L. Jacobson, and Suzanne Bubash of the psychology department at the University of California at Los Angeles.

One theory is that memory is coded through subtle changes in a chemical nicknamed RNA, or ribonucleic acid. RNA is one chemical believed involved in carrying out the code of inheritance, the machinery by which each living cell is "instructed" what to do to be itself, and how to behave differently from other specialized cells such as liver or muscle or heart or bone cells.

Almost all cells, including human brain cells, contain RNA. The theory is that some fact—such as a name or skill—that is learned is retained because of slight changes in the pattern or arrangement of RNA molecules within brain cells.

In earlier experiments, the UCLA researchers had injected RNA taken from the brains of rats trained to carry out a certain task into the bodies of other rats. Those rats then showed a marked tendency to perform the task the other rats had been trained to do.

Species Barrier

Now the scientists tell of jumping the barrier from one species of animal to another. Hamsters are rat-like creatures, with cheek pouches, which are, however, quite distinct from rats.

Eight adult male hamsters were trained to approach a feed box when a mechanism clicked as it released food pellets. The hamsters were trained intensively for five days to do this at the clicking sound.

They were killed, and RNA was extracted from their brain tissue. The same thing was done with eight other hamsters which had not been trained to go to the food box.

Sixteen rats got the RNA injections — eight from the trained hamsters, eight from the untrained ones. The injections were given in the lower belly.

At time periods of 6, 8, 10, 22 and 24 hours later—in 25 tests altogether — the food boxes were clicked, and two human judges watched the rats.

Those getting the "trained" RNA went to the food boxes much more frequently than those receiving "untrained" RNA. The mean score for rats with trained RNA was 7.9, and that for untrained ones was 0.6. Both groups of rats were fed and handled the same way, both were observed at clicks when they were at least a body length away from the food boxes.

GREGORY SARAPUSHKIN

Two Russians Seek Asylum; One Returns

Washington (AP) — Two Russians sought U.S. asylum in Alaska last August, but one of them changed his mind about staying in America and was turned over Tuesday to the Russian embassy, which hustled him home, the State Department reported.

But the other Russian, Peter Kalitenko, 35, is still in the United States. His request to remain is being considered by U.S. officials.

Gregory Sarapushkin, 30, told of his decision to return to the Soviet Union at a meeting with U.S. and Soviet embassy officials Tuesday morning, State Department Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey said.

He was turned over to the embassy immediately and it said later that Sarapushkin was put aboard a New York-bound plane and flown to Moscow.

But the department repeated a denial of Saturday that Sarapushkin had been restrained by American authorities and been denied contact with the Soviet embassy. A Soviet news agency Tass correspondent had written this. And the department said Soviet embassy Counsellor Yuri N. Tcherniakov had called at the department last Wednesday to say the United States was detaining Sarapushkin.

McCloskey Tuesday quoted Soviet officials as saying Sarapushkin had been in touch with the embassy by telephone on three different occasions and had visited there Monday evening.

Sarapushkin and Kalitenko showed up Aug. 7 at Wales, Alaska, the point of the Seward Peninsula closest to Soviet territory across the Bering Strait.

As American officials got the story from the two, they were on a fishing and hunting trip in a walrus skin boat powered by an outboard motor; the motor went dead and they drifted to the Alaska shore.

ETV Unit Gets Word Grant For Channel 9 OKd

The Nebraska Educational Television Commission Tuesday received word the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has approved a $219,881 grant to construct the transmitter plant for ETV Channel 9 at North Platte.

ETV network engineer William Ramsay said the approval assures that the station, serving southwest Nebraska, will be in operation by the fall of next year.

Ramsay also reported an application for $254,238 in federal funds for the transmitter plant for Channel 13 at Alliance is expected to be approved within two weeks, clearing the way for fall, 1966, initiation of ETV coverage in the Panhandle.

The North Platte funds will be used to construct a tower, transmission line and related equipment at a site five miles south of Sutherland. The tower will telecast over a 75-mile radius.

Adm. Hyland To Command The 7th Fleet

Johnson City, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson approved Tuesday the assignment of Rear Adm. John J. Hyland as commander of the 7th Fleet, replacing Vice Adm. Paul J. Blackburn. The fleet is the main naval force in the war in Viet Nam.

Hyland is being given a recess appointment as a vice admiral.

Blackburn has been hospitalized in Japan since Oct. 6 with pneumonia and complications.

During Blackburn's illness, Rear Adm. Joseph Williams has been acting in his stead.

Hyland, who is leaving this weekend to take over the command, currently is director of the strategic plans office in the office of the chief of Naval operations.

Keokuk Explosion Toll Reaches 12

Keokuk, Iowa (AP) — The death toll rose to 12 Tuesday in a Thanksgiving Eve explosion that wrecked the National Guard Armory here.

The latest death was that of Leo May, 55, Keokuk.

Sixteen persons remained in critical condition with burns suffered when the blast, believed to have been caused by an accumulation of gas, enveloped them in a ball of fire during a square dance at the armory.

Officer: Hose Cut On Ship

Miami (UPI) — The officer second in command of the cruise ship Yarmouth Castle when it caught fire and sank with the loss of 89 lives testified Tuesday that a fire hose aboard the ship had been "cut clean through," apparently with a knife.

The statement was made by Staff Capt. Panagiotis Menegatos during the more than two hours he spent before a Coast Guard board of inquiry which is looking into the Nov. 13 sinking.

Monday the ship's engineer, George Vazeos, testified that a peculiar colored flame in what was believed to be an empty stateroom touched off the fire that swept the vessel from stem to stern. "It was sort of like a liquid burning," said Zazeos. "I can't say what (liquid) exactly."

Menegatos, who said he had only been aboard the Yarmouth Castle for 12 days when the fire broke out, testified that one of his duties as second in command of the ship was to head a fire control party of 15 crewmen.

"But I only saw five or six of the men during the whole time," he said. "The ship caught fire shortly after 1 a.m. and sank about five hours later about 125 miles east of Miami. It was loaded with 550 persons bound for a gala weekend in Nassau.

After he was awakened by the fire alarm bell, Menegatos testified that he and one of the crewmen went to a fire hose outlet on the starboard side of the ship and found it cut about eight inches from the hydrant.

"What kind of a cut was it?" a Coast Guard officer asked.

"The kind you would make with a knife." The Greek-born Menegatos said. He added that there was only a trickle of water pressure at the fire station — No. 14 — while on the port side, at another station, the hose was all right and the water pressure was full.

None of Menegatos' other remarks brought out any further details about the cut hose. He said, however, that the hose was made of canvas and rubber.

FBI Informer Tells Of Klansman's Order

Montgomery, Ala. (AP) — A redhaired former bartender testified Tuesday that he was ordered by a Ku Klux Klan superior officer to accompany three other Klansmen on a journey which led to the slaying of civil rights worker Viola Gregg Liuzzo.

Gary Thomas Rowe Jr., 32, who said he was paid by the FBI to join the Klan and get information for the government, was the key witness in the civil rights conspiracy trial of three Klan members —Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 22, of Fairfield, Ala.; Eugene Thomas, 42, and William Orville Eaton, 41, both of Bessemer, Ala. The three are being tried simultaneously.

The Klansmen are charged with violating the constitutional rights of American citizens, including Mrs. Liuzzo during the historic civil rights march from Selma to Montgomery last spring.

Rowe, talking in a calm voice, almost hushed at times, told for the third time his story of a 25-mile chase which he said ended with the killing of the Detroit housewife who had come to Alabama to help Negroes in their struggle for voting rights. The slain woman was the wife of a Teamsters Union official, Anthony Liuzzo.

The witness, who said he was a member of the United Klans of America, headed by Robert M. Shelton, described the hooded organization as one whose primary purpose was preservation of white supremacy "by whatever means necessary, whether by bullets or ballots."

He told the jury of 12 white men that he received a telephone call on the morning of March 25, ordering him to accompany Wilkins, Thomas and Eaton to Montgomery. That was the day the Selma to Montgomery march came to an end at the state capitol and the day on which Mrs. Liuzzo met her death, along U.S. 80 in nearby Lowndes County.

Rowe said a telephone call came from Robert Thomas, whom he identified as a titan in the Klan. He said the titan within the structural organization of the Klan is a supervisory officer who has jurisdiction over several Klaverns.

Rowe said further that he was told the orders came from "down the road," and to members of his Klan organization he said that meant Shelton in Tuscaloosa.

Brewster Killing Said Boasted Of By Defries

Anniston, Ala., (UPI)—A witness for the prosecution testified Tuesday that one of the three white men accused of the nightrider slaying of Willie Brewster told him shortly after the shooting, "We got us a nigger."

Jimmy Knight, 28, told the all-white jury hearing the case that he spent the evening of July 15—the day the shooting took place—with Hubert Damon Strange, first of the accused whites to be brought to trial.

Brewster, a foundry worker, was shot from a passing car while driving home from work.

Knight said he and Strange had attended a "white man's" rally by the militant National States Rights Party (NSRP). He said Strange left with the other two defendants, Johnny Ira Defries, 25, and Lewis Blevins, 26, after chatting at the home of a local NSRP leader.

"Did you see them again?" Circuit Solicitor (Prosecutor) Clarence Williams asked Knight.

"Yes sir," Knight replied.

"About 11:30." The shooting was placed between 11 and 11:30 p.m.

Knight said the three men drove up and Defries got out first.

"Johnny (Defries) pulled a shotgun from the rear seat and said 'We got us a nigger,'" Knight said he asked Defries where it happened.

"At John Hardy Hill," Knight said Defries told him. The area was near where a "freedom rider" bus was burned in 1961.

Knight said he accompanied Blevins and Strange to the scene of the shooting on Highway 202. He said Defries went home "because he had to go to work the next morning."

Communists Abandoning Sea Supply

Washington (AP)—The U.S. admiral commanding a coastal patrol of South Viet Nam said Tuesday the communists have changed tactics and are sending very little to the Red guerrillas by sea.

Rear Adm. Norvell G. Ward told newsmen he believes the presence of U.S. ships inspecting sea traffic has acted as a deterrent.

"We have found very little movement by sea" on the part of the communists, Ward said.

In about seven months of U.S. patrol operations, in cooperation with the South Vietnamese navy, Ward said only about 40 to 45 men of North Vietnamese origin have been apprehended.

Over that period, Ward said, U.S. ships have detected 73,000 junks, have inspected 15,000 of them and boarded about 6,000.

In addition, Ward said, the South Vietnamese have inspected more than 204,000 junks since last Jan. 1.

There was a time earlier this year when U.S. officials were concerned over signs that the North Vietnamese were using the sea to funnel men and supplies to the communist troops operating in South Viet Nam.

Case For NATO MLF Argued

Moscow (UPI) — British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart Tuesday argued the case for a proposed NATO multilateral nuclear force before Soviet leaders who are unyielding in their opposition to it.

Stewart told Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko recent plans for a multilateral force as presented by the U.S. and Britain, do not amount to proliferation of nuclear weapons as the Russian charge.

He said Britain favors restricting acess to NATO's atomic trigger to Britain, the U.S. and France.

Stewart saw little hope there could be any compromise between East and West that would break the deadlock and permit progress toward a treaty bannng proliferation of nuclear weapons, the sources said.

The British foreign secretary, who arrived Monday for a five-day visit, warned Gromyko such nations as India, Canada, West Germany, Sweden, Japan and Israel have the capability of building nuclear weapons without outside help.

Gromyko reportedly repeated standard Kremlin attacks against "militaristic" West Germany.

Increased Travel Pay To Be Mulled

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Increased state travel allowances for food and lodging will be considered Friday by the State Administrative Personnel Committee for recommendation to Gov. Frank Morrison.

State Administrative Services Director Willard Townsend, committee chairman, said Tuesday the current maximum allowances were set in January, 1962.

"Costs have gone up since then," he said. "The committee will consider several studies that have been made in this regard."

Townsend said the current per diem maximums are $10 for the Omaha area, $9 for Lincoln and other cities over 5,000 population and $8 for all others.

Early Recommendation

Townsend anticipated an early recommendation on travel allowances would be made to the governor.

He said the five-member committee, appointed last October by Morrison, would then begin an extended review of the state's personnel policy.

One problem that Townsend believes should be reviewed is garnishment of a state employe's wages.

"There were 15 or 18 garnishments last payroll," Townsend said. "The biggest problem is the repeaters."

Dismissal

The director estimated it costs the state about $20 in man-hour and other costs in handling a garnished paycheck.

Townsend noted many governmental subdivisions and private industry have a definite personnel policy leading to dismissal with an employe repeatedly involved in garnishment proceedings.

Darrel Parker's Motion For New Trial Denied

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Darrel Parker, serving a life sentence for the 1955 slaying of his wife, Nancy, lost his latest bid for freedom Tuesday when Lancaster District Judge Herbert Ronin overruled a motion for a new trial in the case.

Judge Ronin held that Parker was not entitled to relief under the state's new post-conviction law and that the Escobedo vs. Illinois case is not retroactive.

The judge said there was no denial or infringement on the defendant's rights as to render judgment and sentencing void under either the state of federal constitutions.

In Violation

Parker contended that his detention, the commitment and judgment of conviction were unlawful and in violation of the first, fifth, sixth and 14th Amendments to the U.S. Constitution.

The state's contention was that files and records of the case failed to show that Parker was entitled to release under the new law, LB836, which provides that defendants who contend their federal constitutional rights were vilated in connection with their convictions may seek redress in the state courts instead of filing their actions in federal court.

Judge Ronin ruled that the records and files show that the written and oral confessions of Parker were voluntary and given of his own free will and not by threats, promises, etc., by anyone.

Facts Not Similar

He said the facts in the case were not similar to those in the Escobedo case. One of the prime questions before the court in the motion was whether the Escobedo vs. Illinois case applied retroactively in the Parker case.

Parker's bids for freedom have been rejected by the Lancaster District, U.S. federal, State Supreme and the U.S. Supreme Courts at various times.

State Given $170,000 In U.S. School Funds

Nebraska has been granted nearly $170,000 under Title Five of the Federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act, Rep. Clair Callan (D-Neb) reported.

In a breakdown by programs, the grant divides into:

—$90,227 to strengthen instructional program and services.

$36,185 for staff competence and internal supporting services.

—$28,278 for administrative and technical services for local school districts.

—$14,742 to improve teacher education and certification.

Under the first category, six professional persons will be hired to assist the state in developing its educational program.

Consultants

These include a consultant in health, safety and recreation, an advisor on language arts and social sciences and a survey coordinator to evaluate schools, upon their request.

Part two of the grant will establish a library in the statehouse for Education Department personnel, which Dr. Floyd Miller, state education commissioner, says will increase his staff's competency through easily accessible research facilities.

Consultants in field services, pupil transportation, school lunches and plant facilities will be hired under the third section.

Under the last grant, a staff member will be added to work with state colleges to improve the student teaching program.

Assistant Education Commissioner Leroy Ortgiesen said the department is prepared to go ahead on its program as soon as the money is deposited in the state treasury.

No Official Word

"We haven't heard officially from Washington that our program has been accepted," he said.

"But as soon as we are, we'll put the money to use."

One of the first things he mentioned would be to buy the State Educational Television department a television set, so it can watch its own programs.

Up To 60 State High Schools May Face Probation Status

A special consultant to the State Education Department Tuesday said he may recommend that as many as 60 small Nebraska high schools be placed on probation next year for failure to comply with new minimum standards for state approval.

Consultant Mel Olson said the 78 approved high schools in Nebraska have been inspected and nearly all of them deviated from the new rules and regulations in some manne

Accredited high schools are not affected by the new standards.

Olson said he will make probationary recommendations to the State Board of Education in January.

Schools on probation which fail to make adequate improvements by 1968 would lose state approval, and non-approved schools generally are forced to close down.

The state board raised the rules and regulations for state approval of high schools with the intention of forcing improvements in faculties and facilities.

Plan For U.S. Aid To State School Libraries Drawn Up

A State Education Department official Tuesday said a state plan has been drawn under which Nebraska may be able to participate in a federal aid program for school libraries without conflicting with the state constitution's prohibition against public aid to private schools.

Under the arrangement, public schools would order the library resources needed by both public and private schools, then issue the books and supplies to the private schools on a long-term loan basis. The plan would be dependent on voluntary cooperation between public and private schools on the local level.

Lester Harvey, director of instructional materials and library services for the education department, said the plan must be approved by the State Board of Education and the State Justice Department before it is submitted to federal officials for review.

At stake is $775,144 already allocated to Nebraska under the federal aid program, with yearly allocations in the future expected to top $1 million.

The federal money is available under the new Elementary and Secondary Education Act, which stipulates that the library resources must be made available to private as well as public school students.

Harvey said local school districts probably will not receive funds under the program until March, with a June 30 deadline for spending the initial $775,144.

However, he anticipates no difficulty in spending the funds if the state plan is approved.

"There isn't a city in the state that has a completely adequate elementary library program," Harvey said. "There are a great many parochial schools and some public schools that don't even have budgets for libraries.

"Every kid in Nebraska has a critical need for library resources."

Harvey said $100,000 of the initial allocation will be granted to a handful of schools to develop model library programs for other schools to follow and another $38,000 will go to the State Education Department for administration purposes.

The remainder of the initial allocation will be distributed to elementary and secondary schools on the basis of need and ability to supplement the federal grants with local funds, Harvey said.

Meanwhile, the chairman of the Legislature's Education Committee, Sen. Ross Rasmussen of Hooper, said he is working to see if federal funds can be used to keep junior high school and high school libraries open beyond present afternoon closing hours.

Sen. Rasmussen said there is a possibility money available under the Federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act may be available.

He said school libraries should be open at least two nights a week because of the increasing demands of homework assignments.

NEWS of the suburban areas

Lincoln residents are welcoming the formal debut of the winter season with a flurry—of activity, that is. Weekend guests are still in the news, birthdays again are appearing after a holiday absence and the chilly weather has brought out a few thespians in suburbia.

BERLENE HEIGHTS

Happy birthday to young Jill Fager, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fager. Jill will celebrate her first today, and this morning a family get-together is planned. The young celebrant's guests will be her grandmothers, Mrs. J. H. Fager of Lincoln and Mrs. Rhen Dobbs of Beatrice; her sisters, Jennifer and Susan; and the two male guests, cousins Tom and Allen Waltke.

COTNER TERRACE

Entertaining a guest during the Thanksgiving holiday were Mr. and Mrs. George Hudzicki whose visitor was Mrs. Hudzicki's father, Will Faulstich of Norfolk. His five-day stay in Lincoln gave Mr. Faulstich a chance to visit his other son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Myhre.

The November holiday brought Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kruger of Ellsworth, Kan. to Lincoln to visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Barry Burkhart, and the young Burkharts, Sydney and Matt.

Traveling with the Krugers were Mrs. Burkhart's brother and sister, Glenn and Rita.

There probably won't be any "Oscars" awarded in the Lincoln area this year, but there will be four fine performances Thursday, Dec. 2, at 1:30 o'clock. Mrs. Barry Burkhart, Mrs. David Richard, Mrs. Gene Kennedy and Mrs. Ronald Busboom will present an original skit at the County Extension Achievement Day entitled "Susan in Stitches." The affair will be held at the Christ Methodist Church.

PARK VALLEY HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Fiala entertained two guests at their home on Sunday. Mrs. Fiala's brother, Merritt Osborne of Fremont, and Charles Caha of Wahoo joined the Fiala family at dinner.

EASTMONT

And there were others who entertained on November 25. Mr. and Mrs. Don Hamilton, also of Bruce Drive, invited Mrs. Hamilton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Burdick of Crete, to Lincoln for the day's festivities.

PLANS spring wedding

Announcement is being made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz W. Ocken of Seward, of the betrothal of their daughter, Cheryl, to Terry Wright of Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Lueders of Ulysses.

Plans are being made for a wedding on April 10.

The bride-elect is employed at Concordia College in Seward. Her fiance is a student at the University of Nebraska.

Camp Fire Activities

Activities for the leaders of Lincoln Camp Fire Girls this week will include district meetings.

Meeting Wednesday for a holiday coffee at Faith Lutheran Church will be all adult members of District 1. Executive committee members of the district will be hostesses, and a program on holiday decorations will be given by Mrs. Joe Garrett.

District 2 adults will meet for a coffee on Thursday at First-Plymouth Church. During the meeting, executive committee members for the coming year will be elected.

Electing officers on Friday will be District 3 leaders who will meet at Christ Methodist Church.

TALK of the town

Dust the town with glitter and call it Christmas. Christmas decorations are coming out of hiding at many homes in Lincoln, and the welcome mats are being readied for the many Christmas guests who plan to be in Lincoln. The away-at-school set will be arriving home from the east and the west in another scant two weeks, and then the holidays will be in full swing.

* * *

It so happens, however, that some popular guests are arriving — but not for Christmas.

We hear that Dr. and Mrs. Harold Morgan, who have been back in Pennsylvania where Dr. Morgan attended a meeting, will be arriving home just in time to greet house guests.

Dr. and Mrs. Morgan return to Lincoln today, and tomorrow they will welcome Mr. and Mrs. Bill Orwig of Bloomington, Ind., formerly of Lincoln, who will be their house guests for a few days.

* * *

Then we learned that Mrs. P. N. Kelly is just back from Rome, Ga., where she spent two weeks as the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Kelly and their family.

We thought you might be interested in news from the University of Denver — The word from there is the fact that Max Cory, son of Dr. and Mrs. Max Cory, has pledged Sigma Chi fraternity. Also attending the University of Denver this year is Dean Boosalis, son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Boosalis, who has pledged Alpha Kappa Psi.

Both young men are sophomores at DU, and are majoring in business administration.

* * *

The weekend appears to be well fortified with social activity — We took a look at the Friday calendar and found that the members of the Mr. and Mrs. Dancing Club will be tripping the light fantastic at Hotel Lincoln—

And on Saturday night—in the ballroom at Hotel Lincoln—the Lincoln Symphony Guild's traditional 'Headdress Ball' will be held—dining and dancing—and both preceded by the Headdress Parade.

Opening lead — two of hearts.

There are all kinds of rules and slogans which players get into the habit of relying on, but the fact is that many of these generalizations are at least partly inapplicable and should be shunned in favor of common sense.

As an example, take this adage of "third hand high." It is true that in most hands, when a defender leads a low card, his partner, who then becomes the third player on the trick, generally plays his highest card. However, quite often he does not, and there are many good and sufficient reasons for not always playing high.

Some of these cases where it is improper to play third high are not well known and occasionally lead to disaster for the defense.

Here is one such case. South is in six diamonds and West leads a low heart. Let's say that East plays the king, which forces out the ace. Declarer then takes a trump finesse, losing to the king, and East must now find the right return to defeat the contract.

If East returns a heart, which is what most players would do in the expectancy and hope that partner has the queen, South makes the contract. After drawing trumps, South discards his spades on the clubs and scores a cool 1,570 points.

The error is not so much East's heart play at trick three, which is excusable, as much as his play at trick one. East should play the jack of hearts on the opening lead, not the king.

True, this would be a violation of "third hand high," but it would be the right play just the same. By playing the jack East would learn, once it lost to the queen, that South had started with the A-Q.

East could then put this information to use by returning a spade at trick three instead of making an obviously futile heart return. His foresight at trick one could be rewarded at trick three.

Luncheon

The annual Christmas luncheon of the Lincoln Public School Faculty Wives Club will be held Saturday afternoon at the Black Coach Inn.

Following the 1:30 o'clock luncheon, a program on holiday crafts and decorations will be given by Mrs. B. C. McLean.

ABBY

you have three choices

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a photographer. It is not a hobby with him. That is the way he makes his living. We had some friends whose niece was getting married, so these friends asked my husband if he would take their wedding pictures. (Formal shots.) Because she was THEIR relative, we didn't ask for any advance payment. The wedding took place on a Saturday, after which the couple went on a week-end honeymoon. They came back on Monday and the proofs were ready, so they picked them up. That was a year ago, and we have heard nothing since. We've sent a bill every month, and several letters, but we have been ignored. These friends of ours have also avoided us. (I guess they are embarrassed.) The "proofs" are actually finished pictures. (They will not fade.) How do we either get the money for the job, or the pictures back?

STUCK

DEAR STUCK: You can (1) take the couple to small claims court, (2) turn the bill over to a collection agency, (3) charge it to experience and forget it. And in the future, be sure all parties concerned understand that there IS a fee, and the amount should be clearly stated. There's a chance your former friends thought you were doing it gratis.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My husband has never given me a compliment about anything—the way I look, my cooking, the way I am training our children. Nothing! I used to go on working like a horse and thinking all the while that my husband just wasn't the type to compliment anybody. Then I heard him telling other women how "pretty" they looked, and how "talented" they were.

If I want a compliment, I have to fish for one. Then he says, "Oh, you ALWAYS look nice."

Abby, please tell those husbands who complain because their wives are "cold" that they'd be much warmer if they remembered one thing. Never give another woman a compliment in front of your wife if it's been a long time since you gave your wife one.

COLD (WITH REASON)

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: My son was recently inducted into the Army. It is his first experience being away from home. He writes letters to me and tells me to please read them to the relatives as he doesn't have time to write to each one separately. He says he would love to hear from them once in a while, and in his letters he asks me to please give them his regards. My relatives say they won't write to him unless he writes to them first. After all, he is in the Army, he is not away at college, Abby, and he is very busy and tired. Am I wrong to feel that the relatives are taking the wrong attitude?

HIS MOM

DEAR MOM: I agree with you. If your relatives knew how much a letter from home meant to a boy in service, they'd hang their heads in shame.

Let Your Kitchen Sing A Song Of Christmas

Let your kitchen sing a song of Christmas this year. Your oven will play the stellar role for your holiday parties — or perhaps for some extra-special cookies you may wish to have on hand for a small gift.

Here are some excellent recipes you, your kitchen and your oven may wish to try.

PRALINE COOKIES

3 tablespoons butter
1 cup medium brown sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 tablespoon vanilla
1 cup pecan halves
2 tablespoons flour

Melt butter and blend in sugar, add egg, nuts, flour, vanilla and mix well. Prepare a well-greased heavy cookie sheet, drop one-half teaspoon of batter for each cookie, placing them five inches apart. Bake about ten minutes in a moderate oven, then loosen edges of each cookie with wide spatula and lift onto wire cake rack to cool and crisp. This delicious recipe, a truly Southern treat, makes 2½ dozen cookies.

MINCEMEAT FIG COOKIES

An easy-to-make, popular drop cookie with interesting spicy flavors.

1 cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup soft shortening
1 cup granulated sugar
1 tablespoon molasses
1 egg, unbeaten
½ cup mincemeat
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup uncooked rolled oats
¾ cup chopped dried figs

Sift flour with soda, baking powder, salt, and cinnamon. Mix shortening with sugar, molasses and egg until light and fluffy. Mix in mincemeat; then flour mixture. Add vanilla, rolled oats, and dried figs. Drop by spoon on greased cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 10 to 12 minutes. Makes about 4 dozen. Serve plain or cover with thin powdered sugar glaze.

ROSETTES

2 eggs
1 Tbsp. sugar
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup milk
1 cup flour

Beat eggs slightly. Add other ingredients and beat until smooth. Heat iron in hot fat. Dip in batter, then in hot fat until slightly brown. Dip in sugar (granulated or powdered).

FATTIGMAND (poor man's cake)

Beat slightly:
3 egg yolks
1 whole egg
For each egg add:
1 Tbsp. cream and
1 tsp. sugar
A little butter
¼ tsp. ground cardamom flavor
Flour to make a soft dough

Cut into diamonds and fry in hot lard.

YULE KAKE

3 cups milk scalded
½ cup lukewarm water
2 cakes compressed yeast
¾ cup sugar
½ cup butter
8½ cups flour
2 tsp. salt
2 eggs beaten
½ chopped citron
½ cup candied cherries (or 1 cup candied fruit)
½ cup currants
¾ chopped raisins (white and dark)
½ tsp. cardamom (if desired)

Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Pour scalded milk over sugar and butter. When lukewarm, add yeast mixture. Add half of flour and salt. Beat 10 minutes. Add eggs. Add fruit and remaining flour. Knead. Place in a greased bowl in warm place and let rise until double in bulk. Knead again and let rise again until double in bulk. Shape and place in greased pans (round if desired). When double in bulk, bake at 340 degrees-350 degrees for 35-40 min. When baked, remove from pan and brush with melted butter. Sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar.

SANDBAKKELS

1½ cups sugar
1½ butter
½ cup oleo
1 egg
Pinch of salt
Vanilla
Approximately 4 cups flour

Cream sugar and shortening. Add beaten egg, salt, and flavoring. Use flour enough to make dough easily handled. Make a ball in palm of hand and press or shape into tins. Bake in moderate oven.

SPRITZ

1 cup powdered sugar
2½ cups flour
1 cup butter
2½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. almond flavoring
½ tsp. salt
2 egg yolks

Put dough through cookie press and bake 10 to 12 minutes.

And here are some fun and simple party additions—

GARLIC BREAD

Melt ½ cup butter or margarine in a saucepan. Add 1 teaspoon instant garlic powder and 2 teaspoons parsley flakes and set aside. Cut a long loaf of French bread diagonally into thick slices, almost to the bottom. Pour butter mixture generously between slices and over top of bread. Wrap in aluminum foil. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 minutes or until hot.

Yield: 6 servings.

PAIN PERDU (LOST BREAD)

Combine 2 well beaten eggs, 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon ground nutmeg and 1 cup milk. Dip 8 slices of bread, one at a time, into the mixture. Saute in butter or margarine, until browned, turning to brown both sides. Sprinkle with sugar or serve with preserves, jelly or syrup.

Yield: 8 slices.

THANK YOU . . .

Words fail me in seeking to express my sincere appreciation to the many courtesies, notes, cards and gifts and to the First Christian Church where a lovely reception was held on my 90th birthday.

Truly and sincerely,

Barnes Vs. Brown?

Time Magazine, in naming Nebraska's Walt Barnes to its All-American team, says "Some (pro) scouts insist he is the nation's No. 1 college football player.

"If Jimmy Brown (Ceveland Browns fullback) could get through him, he'd really be earning his pay."

We doubt that Jim Brown is overly worried about Walt Barnes, especially since he has bigger worries than football now with Brenda Ayres, the 18-year-old girl who apparently delights in having her name mentioned with Brown, filing a paternity suit against the Cleveland fullback.

And before Nebraska fans start popping their buttons over what Time says about Barnes, read what they say about George Rice, the other defensive tackle.

"Rice is a kid with the arms of a blacksmith," Time says. "He knocks enemy guards flat on their butts with just a flick of his elbow." That should put Rice in the same category with Sonny Liston and those enemy guards in the same class with Floyd Patterson.

Time Magazine's offensive team has Rick Norton of Kentucky at quarterback, Donny Anderson of Texas Tech and Mike Garrett of Southern Cal at halfbacks, Jim Grabowski of Illinois at fullback, Howard Twilley of Tulsa and Milt Morin of Massachusetts at ends, Francis Peay of Missouri and Sam Ball of Kentucky at tackles, John Niland of Iowa and Stan Hindman of Mississippi at guards and Pat Killorin of Syracuse at center.

The defense is Bill Yearby of Michigan and Aaron Brown of Minnesota at ends, Barnes and Rice of LSU at tackles, Tom Nobis of Texas, Carl McAdams of Oklahoma and Frank Emanuel of Tennessee at linebackers, Nick Rassas of Notre Dame and Ben Hawkins of Arizona State at corner and Eric Crabtree of Pittsburgh and Rodger Bird of Kentucky at safety.

Crabtree likely made the team merely because he didn't turn in his suit midway in the season with all the players he had to try to stop from his safety position after the staunch Pittsburgh defense let them through the line.

Pittsburgh's defense, you'll recall, is the one that gave up 63 points to West Virginia, 51 to Syracuse and 69 to Notre Dame.

Top Bowl Attraction

The top bowl attraction, according to Kickoff, a weekly football publication, and according to nearly everyone else who follows football, is the Nebraska-Alabama pairing in Miami's Orange Bowl New Year's Night.

The publication lists Nebraska only two-tenths of a point ahead of the Crimson Tide on its power rating scale with the Huskers third at 113.0 and Alabama fourth at 112.8. Michigan State is the leader with 117.0 and Arkansas is second at 116.0.

In other bowl pairings, Kickoff has Michigan State 5.2 better than UCLA in the Rose, Missouri 3.0 better than Florida in the Sugar, Arkansas 11.5 better than LSU in the Cotton, Texas Tech 3.6 better than Georgia Tech in the Gator, Tennessee 6.5 better than Tulsa in the Bluebonnet, Mississippi 1.7 better than Auburn in the Liberty, Texas Christian 7.7 better than Texas Western in the Sun and East Carolina 5.2 better than Maine in the Tangerine.

How Many In Bowls?

Bobby Schulte, an 11-year-old sports fan who attends Hawthorne School in Lincoln and lives at 235 Piazza Terrace, asks for the capacities of the major football bowl stadiums.

The Rose Bowl at Pasadena is the largest at 102,000, followed by the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, 81,585; Cotton Bowl at Dallas, 75,504; Orange Bowl at Miami, 70,097; Bluebonnet at Houston, 53,000; Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, 51,000; Liberty Bowl at Memphis, 50,160; and Sun Bowl at El Paso, 30,000.

Northeast Rebuilding For 65-66—Not Really

. . . STARTERS TO AVERAGE 6-4

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Northeast basketball coach Ed Johnson is only about half-serious when he calls the upcoming season a rebuilding year, but he does have a point in that the Rockets lost 10 players from last year's state tourney squad.

"It's really a good year to be rebuilding," he admits, citing the facts that his four lettermen are sound basketball players and that the newcomers to the squad make it his biggest team at Northeast.

His 15-player squad averages just under 6-2 and his probable starting lineup will average just a bit under 6-4. With that kind of height there's little doubt as to the major strength of the Rockets.

"We think we'll be pretty rugged inside and should be able to rebound with any high school team in the state," Ed observes.

There is plenty of muscle up front with Wally Winter (6-4) and Cliff Livingston (6-7) expected to handle the starting spots in a double post arrangement and John Brown (6-4) and Paul Topliff (6-3) on the wings.

That leaves returning starter Jack Ketterer (6-0) to take care of the ball-handling chores and there's little question that he can get the job done. In addition to floor leadership the senior veteran is expected to keep opposing defenses from sagging on the big boys with his outside shooting. He was the Rockets' second leading scorer last year.

Winter, who helped down the stretch run after becoming eligible at mid-year last year, is tabbed the Rockets' "most improved player" by Johnson. The 6-4, 210-pound junior should be a strong rebounder.

Livingston, a transfer from Virginia, certainly won't hurt in that department and for back-up duty there's 6-9 Mike Zimmerman, up from the reserves.

Brown, perhaps the top hand coming up from last year's strong reserve team, and the veteran Topliff, much stronger at 6-3 and 195 this year, give the Rockets added ammunition for the warfare under the boards.

Johnson is also confident that depth will be an asset for the Rockets with not too much of a dropoff in talent down the line.

Hal Smith, a 6-2 letterman, heads the list and there is more size where he comes from in the likes of 6-2 senior Rick Collura and 6-3 junior Chris Rosenstock up from the reserve ranks.

Making the big jump from the sophomore squad are Wayne Summers, Bill Fagler and Joe Starita.

Others up from the reserves are Jim Knight, Jerry Colvert and Rex Mercer.

The eight juniors on the 15-man roster are the cream of what Johnson calls "the best bunch of sophomores we've had at Northeast." The only thing lacking in this group is experience as only Winter logged time with the varsity last year.

$400,000--PEANUTS!

...Nobis, Grabowski May Outdo Namath's Price

By The Associated Press

Tommy Nobis and Jim Grabowski, two college football players who are liable to make Joe Namath look like a bargain-basement pickup, continued their fiscal negotiations with pro teams Tuesday.

Nobis, All-America linebacker from Texas, and Grabowski, the fullback blaster from Illinois, were chosen in the first rounds of the pro drafts Saturday.

Atlanta of the National Football League and Houston of the American Football League selected Nobis, while Grabowski was picked by Green Bay of the NFL and Miami of the NFL.

Nobis got the royal treatment by the Falcons in Atlanta Monday, and followed with a conference with the Oilers in Houston Tuesday.

Bud Adams, owner of the NFL club, puts Nobis in the financial class with Namath, rookie quarterback for the New York Jets who received a reported $400,000 to sign with the AFL club.

"Nobis is in the $400,000 range—but I don't mean that is the limit," Adams said. "We're going to offer whatever is necessary to get him."

If Nobis is in Namath's money class—or higher—so is Grabowski. He's had an offer, undisclosed, from the Packers, and had a date Tuesday with the AFL Dolphins. Along with the backfield star was attorney Art Morse, who helped linebacker Dick Butkus of Illinois get a contract reported to be in the $250,000 bracket with the Chicago Bears last year.

Nobis and Grabowski stand as the prime pawns in the current dollar war between the rival pro leagues. Close behind are linebacker Carl McAdams of Oklahoma, guard Dick Arrington and defensive back Nick Rassas of Notre Dame, and halfback Mike Garrett, Heisman Trophy winner of Southern California.

Many of the standout prospects can't be landed until after post-season bowl games. These include halfback Donnie Anderson of Texas Tech; back Johnny Roland and tackle Francis Peay of Missouri; ends Tony Jeter and Freeman White and guard Walt Barnes of Nebraska; tackle Don Davis of Los Angeles State; tackle Stan Hindman of Mississippi; tackle George Rice of Louisiana State; and guard Larry Wagner of Florida.

Nebraska Fans To Honor Team

Nebraska football fans will have a chance to honor their team at tonight's NU Football Appreciation Banquet at the Lincoln Hotel.

The banquet gets under way at 7 p.m. with Kansas State coach Doug Weaver the featured speaker. Tonight will be Weaver's second speaking appearance in Lincoln in the past six months.

Weaver spoke briefly at the Lincoln Country Club last summer when he teamed with Nebraska coach Bob Devaney in the Lincoln Country Club's Swingfest.

Husker Wrestlers Open Season Against Omaha

Nebraska's wrestling team opens its 1965-66 season Friday against Omaha University at the Indians home mat.

Coach Orval Borgialli has listed these probable starters:

Big Trade Efforts Run Into Troubles

Fort Lauderdale, Fla. (AP)—It was a day of endless activity but little accomplishment at the baseball meetings Tuesday.

While the minors were trying to figure out a way to ease their financial burden, major leaguers were engaged in talks aimed at breaking a trade logjam. Several player transactions were made but all have been of comparatively minor nature.

The big ones have been harder to finalize than a peace settlement between the AAU and the NCAA. But it is not for lack of trying.

The Chicago Cubs thought they had a deal set with Atlanta that would have sent relief pitcher Lindy McDaniel to the Braves for catcher Gene Oliver. The Braves balked, insisting on broadening the swap to include Chicago right-hander Larry Jackson and Atlanta outfielder Rico Carty.

President John McHale of the Braves acknowledged he has been seeking a topflight relief pitcher and said he had talked with the Boston Red Sox about getting 6-foot-6 Dick Radatz.

"Nothing has been worked out yet," he said. "We talked with the Red Sox once and hope we can work out something."

McHale did not name any player he may have offered for Radatz, but there was speculation that they might be Felipe Alou, who plays first base and the outfield, and Bob Sadowski, a right-handed pitcher.

Radatz, 28, pitched sensationally in 1963 and 1964 but slipped somewhat last season. He was 15-16 in 1963, 16-9 in 1964 but 9-11 last season.

Alou, 31, batted .297, hit 23 home runs and drove in 78 runs in 143 games last season. Sadowski had a 95-record.

The Red Sox, searching for a second baseman, have offered first baseman Lee Thomas, catcher Bob Tillman, and reserve infielder Chuck Schilling for Dick Green of the Kansas City Athletics.

Trade talk between Baltimore and Philadelphia broke down, at least for the time being. The Orioles expressed a desire for Adolfo Phillips, a promising young Phillie center fielder, but cooled off when Philadelphia asked for pitcher Dave McNally in exchange.

Another proposed swap, Phillips and relief pitcher Jack Baldschun for Baltimore outfielder Jackie Brandt and pitcher John Miller, also fell through.

Dick Stuart, slugging first baseman who became expendable when Philadelphia acquired Bill White from the St. Louis Cardinals last month is still with the Phillies.

"And he will remain with us," said Philadelphia Manager Gene Mauch, "if they continue to make these ridiculous offers for him.

"Everybody seems to think we've got to give him away. They couldn't be more wrong. What is wrong with having a guy who hit 28 home runs for you on the bench?"

Leo Durocher, who took over as manager of the Cubs a month ago, is anxious to swing a deal for catcher John Roseboro of the Los Angeles Dodgers. He considers the asking price of southpaw Dick Ellsworth too high, however.

Creighton To Test K-State In 7-1 Pino's Debut Tonight

Omaha — Kansas State's highly-rated, but unproven frontline that averages 6-10 by 240 pounds is expected to receive a sound testing from Creighton when the two teams open their basketball season at 8 o'clock tonight in the Omaha Civic Auditorium.

Two sophomores — Nick Pino and Earl Seyfert—and last season's top rebounder form K-State's tallest frontline in history. At the hub is Pino, a 7-1, 270-pounder, who will become the tallest player ever to don a Big Eight varsity uniform when he dresses for the game.

Pino led the K-State varsity with 13 points and 10 rebounds in a 70-52 win over the frosh last week. The 270-pounder played only 27 minutes.

The other rookie on the gigantic frontline is Seyfert, a 6-7 southpaw who led last year's frosh in rebounding. The third member of the "Redwood Set" is Roy Smith, a 6-10 junior who led last year's team in rebounding.

Smith has moved from center to forward to make room for Pino.

K-State coach Tex Winter has experience at guard where he will start lettermen Sam Robinson and Dennis Berkholtz with Ron Paradis, a top-notch outside shooter who led last year's team with a 12.3 scoring average, in reserve.

Creighton itself is small only by Kansas State standards with coach Red McManus starting a frontline of 6-7 performers Wally Anderzunas, Neil Johnson and Tim Powers along with 6-4 Fritz Pointer and 5-9½ Bobby Miles at guards.

The Bluejays own a 5-2 edge over the Wildcats in their basketball series with one of the Kansas State victories coming in last season's opener at Manhattan, Kan.

Creighton led, 41-40, at the half in that one, but the Wildcats came roaring back with a 56-point effort in the second half to win going away, 96-82.

Berkholtz and Paradis led the K-State victory with 18 and 14 points respectively while returnees Pointer and Powers led the Bluejays with 16 and 15.

But tonight's contest could be decided by newcomers—the 7-1 Pino, a red-shirt last year, and the 6-7 Johnson, who didn't become eligible for Creighton until the second semester.

The Creighton frosh will meet Nebraska Wesleyan's reserves in a 6 p.m. preliminary.

Snodgrass, Cain Lead Peru Past Tarkio, 83-72

Peru (AP) — Ron Snodgrass with 21 and Dean Cain with 20 points paced Peru to an 83-72 basketball victory over Tarkio Tuesday night.

Nebraska Opens Basketball Season Against Wisconsin

. . . BOTH TEAMS EXPECTING IMPROVEMENT

Madison, Wis.—Two teams hopeful of stepping into the first division of their respective conferences will kick off the basketball season when Nebraska of the Big Eight and Wisconsin of the Big 10 meet at 7:30 here tonight.

The Badgers have high-scoring potential in their eight returning regulars plus four top sophomores while Nebraska coach Joe Cipriano looks for an improved pressing defense and a better scoring machine to boost the Huskers in the Big Eight standings.

Five of Wisconsin coach John Erickson's returning veterans have won two letters with 6-6 center Mark Zubor the leader. Zubor led the Badgers in scoring last season with 345 points, an average of 15.7.

Ken Barnes, a 6-3 forward, came on strong at the close of the season for Wisconsin, scoring 100 points in his final four games including a 42-point performance in the finale against Indiana.

Another Badger who could regain a hot scoring hand is Ken Gustafson, whose scoring fell off from 359 points as a sophomore to 229 points as a junior.

Gustafson led the scoring with 21 points in an 81-65 varsity win over the Wisconsin frosh while Barnes added 16 points and paced the rebounding with 15.

Erickson plans to start Barnes and 6-4½ sophomore Joe Franklin at forwards with 6-8 junior Keith Stelter at center and Gustafson teaming with 6-0 sophomore Mike Carlin at guards.

Ciprian will go with the same starting lineup that scored a 105-62 win over the Husker frosh 10 days ago.

This lineup has sophomore Tom Baack and Nate Branch at forwards, Willie Campbell the center, and Fred Hare with Grant Simmons in the backcourt.

Baack led the scoring against the frosh with 18 points on eight of 10 field goal attempts. Hare added 15, Branch contributed 12 and Simmons chipped in with 11 in the balanced scoring.

Another Husker sure to see early action is sophomore Stuart Lantz, who scored six points and led the team in rebounding with 10 from his guard position.

Nebraska plays its home opener Tuesday night in a 7:35 p.m. game against Oregon State at the NU Coliseum.

Jurgensen Turns Boos To Cheers In Victory

. . . NAMED TOP OFFENSIVE STAR

New York (AP)—A rich chorus of boos bounced off the ears of Sonny Jurgensen in the second quarter of Sunday's football game at Washington. "We want Shiner" the fans chanted, calling for second-string quarterback Dick Shiner.

Sonny had completed only four of 13 passes for 28 yards. One had been intercepted, he had fumbled once, setting up a Dallas touchdown and the Cowboys had thrown him three times for a loss of 22 yards.

Jurgensen turned the boos to cheers as he rallied the Redskins from a 21-0 deficit to a 34-31 victory in the most spectacular passing show of the season.

As a result of Jurgensen's 26 completions in 42 attempts for 411 yards and three touchdowns, the Associated Press named the veteran the Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

It was a week of sensational offensive performances by Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears, Pete Retzlaff and Timmy Brown of Philadelphia, John Brodie of San Francisco, Jim Brown of Cleveland and Roman Gabriel of Los Angeles.

But it was Jurgensen's fourth 400-yard day of his career that was outstanding. Only 11 NFL players have passed for 400 or more in a day, but nobody had done it twice except Sonny.

Jurgensen pitched two TD passes in 2 minutes 16 seconds of a 21-point fourth quarter, moving the Redskins 80 yards in 37 seconds for the winning score on a five-yard pass to Angelo Coia.

Dunkel Rates Alabama Over Nebraska By Four

. . . SPARTANS FAVORED BY 11

By DICK DUNKEL

Even the great Underdog might not be able to save some of this year's Bowl contestants.

Gigantic Michigan State rates 11 over Rose Bowl opponent UCLA.

Mighty Arkansas stands 10 over Cotton Bowl foe Louisiana State.

However, most of the big dishes have come up with tighter pairings. The best, it seems, is the Sugar Bowl's where Missouri rates only 3 over Florida.

The entire Bowl rating picture is given below.

Michigan State has won not only the national championship for the regular 1965 season but also the title of this year's most improved major team.

The Spartans (10-0) have played opposition indexed at 97.0 and have out-scored it by 19.2 points per game for the leading total of 116.2. That rating is 21.6 higher than Michigan State's 94.6 at the close of last year for the greatest gain shown by any major team this season.

Second among the most improved majors is Texas Wester with an increase of 21.5. Next in line are: Dartmouth, 19.7; UCLA, 19.2; Tennessee, 16.8; N.C. State, 15.4; W.Tex. State, 14.7; and Louisville, 14.6.

On the other hand, the greatest decrease in rating among majors has been shown by Cincinnati, with 21.3. Other leading nose-divers were Villanova, 21.0; Utah, 19.9; Penn State, 18.4; Kansas State, 18.2; and Ohio U, 17.4.

East Carolina (8-1), headed for the Tangerine Bowl, finished with the highest small college rating of 78.7.

Our forecasting accuracy? Sorry you asked. It was next to the worst record in our 37-year history—only 75.0% of the 1,732 games ,exclusive of ties, covered here were won by the higher rating team. Why was it so bad? It seems that all players nowadays speak English, are seeking masters' degrees, and brush their teeth thrice daily. And all coaching is good, man, good.

Final ratings for the season won't be known until after games of December and Jan. 1 have been played. The schedule, with ratings, for those games follows:

Top Field Set Among Heavies

A rugged battle in the heavyweight division is shaping up as entries begin to come in for next weekend's Great Plains AAU Wrestling Tournament in Lincoln.

The tournament is scheduled for Dec. 10 and 11 at Pershing Auditorium in Lincoln. A field exceeding the record 229 athletes who competed last year is expected.

Back for another crack at the heavyweight championship which he won two years ago will be Joe James, the former NCAA and Pan-American Games champion from Oklahoma State.

On hand to challenge the former Cowpoke will be Larry Kristoff, Southern Illinois heavyweight who has a third-place finish in the world championships to his credit.

If Oklahoma State sends its usual delegation to Lincoln, young heavyweight Ron Gabbett will be on hand to challenge these two. A 225-pounder, he is inexperienced but is expected to be a good one.

Several other top individuals are among the early nominees. James, who now lives in Chicago, Ill., will bring along Pat Kelley, a 171-pounder who finished third in last year's national AAU meet at that weight.

Also scheduled to compete is Charles Coffey, a former Big Ten champion from Minnesota. The Hazewinkel twins from St. Cloud, Minn., State will return. Pete Shelley, former Lincoln Southeast wrestler, now a freshman at Colorado, is scheduled to come back for the meet.

Tracy Borah, coach at Western State in Gunnison, Colo., will send a strong delegation. At the moment, teams from Westmar College in LeMars, Iowa, and Fort Hays, Kan., State also will compete.

Dec. 9th Valentine 'Payday'

State Banking Director Henry Ley Tuesday announced final payment of $1.5 million will be made Dec. 9 to the depositors of the defunct Nebraska State Bank at Valentine.

Full payment of all deposits under a unique plan approved by the Cherry County District Court last month will end the department's receivership duties, he said.

The Valentine bank was embezzled of nearly $3 million a year ago by its president, Richard Davenport, who is serving an 8-to-15-year prison term.

Deposit liability was $6,418,020 as of its closing, of which the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation has paid $4,150,644 as presenting depositors up to $10,000.

Correspondent Banks

Final payment to about 150 depositors with accounts in excess of $10,000 will be made under the court-approved order under which the three correspondent banks purchased the assets of the defunct bank.

Ley commended the First National Bank of Lincoln, U.S. National Bank of Omaha and Commerce Trust Co. of Kansas City, Mo., for this "foresighted action" to preserve a sound Nebraska credit system.

Noting that the plan avoids an estimated 10 years of litigation, the director publicly thanked the legal advisors and attorneys and the FDIC.

Blessed

"Most of all, we were blessed with the people of Valentine," Ley said. "People who, in the face of a catastrophe, could say 'I want to and will pay what I owe.'

"I doubt that this could have happened any place but in Nebraska," he added.

No More Billboard Cash In '65

It's doubtful Nebraska will receive any more bonus payments for restricting billboards this year from the U.S. Bureau of Roads, George J. Welty, chief fiscal officer for the State Roads Department, said.

He said there are two points along Interstate 80 with billboards that do not conform to state statute controlling highway advertising.

One segment is between Lexington and Kearney. The other, one mile east of Elm Creek, has a signpost standing and Welty said the roads department has litigation pending to remove it.

Before bonus payments are made on billboard removals, Welty said, the federal roads bureau must first audit the records the state submits listing costs of highway construction.

He said Nebraska has several pending audit releases from Washington, but none should be forthcoming before year's end.

Nebraska expects to receive about $1.2 million in bonus checks from the government when it finishes its stretch of the Interstate 80 program.

Thus far, it has been awarded two bonuses, one in March for $50,000 and another in July for $11,177.

Payments are made to states whose legislatures pass laws restricting billboard advertising within 600 feet (about two city blocks) of the highway right-of-way.

Stock Mart Ends With Slight Loss

New York (AP) — The stock market weathered a sharp selling squall Tuesday and recovered enough so that its final loss was slight.

Trading was heavy, volume mounting to 9 million shares from 8.75 million Monday. It was the biggest day since Nov. 17 when 9.12 million shares changed hands.

Prices were at their worst by noon when the Dow Jones industrial average showed a loss of 5.29. The final reading showed a drop of only .22 at 946.71.

The blue chips were mostly down in early trading. American Telephone was under selling pressure and opened late on a block of 35,000 shares. It sank to a low of 60¾ before it recovered to close at a net gain of ⅛ at 61½.

Du Pont, General Motors, Standard Oil New Jersey, Kennecott and others also put on a sad performance in early dealings. While they were fading there was some sharp profit taking going on among recently strong issues such as the aerospace stocks, electronics, airlines and color televisions. A scattering of these continued to rise but the selling was spreading from one stock to another.

Brokers said there was no particular linkup to the news, either in the early decline or the recovery drive that came in afternoon.

Opportunities for captain gain soon became apparent as an assortment of lower-priced stocks began to take hold and go ahead in fast trading for big percentage gains.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks ended the day with a minimal loss of .1 at 353.2 with industrials up .4, rails up .2 to a new high for the year and utilities off .9.

Of 1,416 issues traded, losers outnumbered gainers by 646 to 522. New highs for the year totaled 100 and new lows 36.

Ten of the 15 most active stocks advanced, 3 declined and 2 were unchanged.

Ampex was the volume leader, rising 2⅛ to 26⅞ on 182,200 shares.

Prices were irregularly lower on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 4.43 million shares compared with 3.81 million Monday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U. S. Treasury bonds declined.

Grain Futures Mostly Firm

Chicago (AP) — There were a few soft spots in the grain futures market Tuesday but most contracts closed in a firm range.

Corn was the broadest gainer with the December delivery up almost 2 cents a bushel. Nearly all soybean contracts moved up a cent or more but wheat finished mixed after having shown periods of both firmness and weakness in rather unsettled trading.

Wheat closed ⅜ cent a bushel lower to ⅞ higher, December $1.61¾-¼; corn ½-1¾ higher, December $1.18⅜-¼; oats ¼-⅜ higher, December 69¾-⅞ cents; rye ⅜ lower to ¼ higher, December $1.18⅛-18; soybeans ¾-1¼ higher, January $2.58½-¼.

Ground Fighting Picks Up Again

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP)—Vietnamese troops and their American advisers fought off an attack by about 200 guerrillas on a special forces camp and militia post 90 miles southwest of Saigon Tuesday.

But a Viet Cong battalion apparently overwhelmed about 200 government militiamen in the central highlands 15 miles east of An Khe, headquarters of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division.

Ground fighting picked up after a brief lull during the latest inspection trip by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, which seemed to be a prelude to another major buildup of U.S. and South Vietnamese armed forces.

B52s Strike

B52 jet bombers from Guam smashed at three suspected Viet Cong camps in Binh Duong province northwest of Saigon, hoping to blast elements of a guerrilla task force that virtually destroyed the Vietnamese Army's 7th Infantry Regiment on the Michelin rubber plantation Saturday. Results were not announced.

In the air-sea campaign, the nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise and guided missile frigate Bainbridge steamed from the Philippines to join a flotilla of the U.S. 7th Fleet on combat duty off Viet Nam. They are the first vessels driven by nuclear engines to be used in war. The Enterprise, an 85,000-ton craft with a flight deck of 4½ acres, is the biggest aircraft carrier in the world.

McNamara said on his return to Washington the communists are increasing their infiltration from North Viet Nam. He said the rate was 1,500 a month during the recently ended season and now is expected to go to 4,500 a month.

Nine, He Believes

Intelligence sources previously had reported seven North Vietnamese regular regiments were in South Viet Nam and the defense secretary said he now believes there are nine. A North Vietnamese regiment is rated at about 2,000 men.

Asked about speculation U. S. military personnel in Viet Nam may be increased to about 300,000 from the present level of more than 165,000, McNamara said he didn't want to forecast, but "it will be a long road ahead."

McNamara later had a telephone talk with President Johnson in Johnson City, Tex., to fill him in on the tour.

De Gaulle Reverses Field, Makes Frank Political Pitch

Paris (AP)—With a sideswipe at "a stupid war" in Asia, Charles de Gaulle Tuesday night asked Frenchmen to give him a vote of confidence in Sunday's election.

The president said France shuns subordination to any of its allies—an apparent reference to the United States.

De Gaulle, 75, made a frankly political speech to the nation to solicit votes. He did not name his five opponents, but said: "The only point on which they bring their passions together is for my departure."

Election of any of them "would without fail mark the return to the odious state" in which the nation suffered under former regimes, he said in arguing that he alone can unite the nation and lead it independently toward progress and peace.

It was De Gaulle's formal entry into the political arena, aside from his original announcement that he would seek another seven-year term. When the campaign started he planned to forego opportunities to speak on the national television network. Polls indicating that his opponents were making points led him to schedule Tuesday night's address.

France for the first time is choosing a president by popular vote.

Few doubt that De Gaulle will be re-elected, but some question whether he will get a majority Sunday. If not, he will be forced into a runoff election—a blow to his pride.

Driver Treated After Accident

James E. Baker, 31, of 7301 Starr was injured in a two-car collision at 56th and Holdrege Tuesday night.

Police said Baker was eastbound on Holdrege when his car collided with one driven by Daisei Abe, 31, of 5330 Heumann Drive.

Baker was treated and released from Lincoln General Hospital for leg bruises and cuts.

Piracy Is Charge In Hijack Try

New Orleans (AP) — Texas honor student Thomas Robinson was indicted for piracy Tuesday for trying to hijack a National Airlines plane Nov. 17 and divert it to Cuba.

Following the federal grand jury action, U.S. Dist. Judge Herbert Christenberry ordered Robinson, 16, of Brownsville, Tex., committed to the federal medical center at Springfield, Mo., for a mental examination.

Young Robinson, a pistol in each hand, attempted to take over the DC8 over the Gulf of Mexico shortly after it took off from here on a flight to Melbourne and Miami, Fla. There were 91 persons aboard.

Robinson told passengers he wanted to go to Cuba to aid anti-Castro political prisoners. He fired several shots into the plane's floor after pointing one weapon at Christopher Kraft, director of U.S. space flights and one of a dozen space officials aboard.

Kraft and Paul Haney, known as the voice of Gemini, and another passenger subdued the youth and took the pistols from him. The plane returned here and Robinson was taken into custody.

The grand jury indicted Robinson on one count of piracy — which carries a maximum sentence of death — and two of intimidating and threatening the plane's pilot and stewardess. The latter charge carries a maximum penalty of life in prison.

Pope Endorses Council Birth Control Statement

Vatican City (UPI) — Pope Paul VI has endorsed a final Ecumenical Council statement on birth control which leaves the way open to future changes but binds Catholics to observe the church's prohibition of artificial contraception, Vatican sources said Tuesday.

The council is scheduled to take a final vote on the declaration Saturday.

The Pope was reported to have directed the council fathers earlier to make a specific restatement of the church prohibition which would retain the traditional ban against chemical or mechanical methods of birth control.

The sources said the special 56-member commission appointed by the pontiff which has been studying the matter for the past eight months has not reached a final consensus. The commission will make its findings some time after the council ends and the Pope will take its statement into consideration when he makes a final ruling.

According to the sources, the Pope has made clear he does not want the council fathers to prejudge the question so he personally can make a final decision when the full report is made.

Council advisers on the American bishops' press panel said meanwhile, moral theologians attached to the pontifical commission and the council agree that present church teaching is not open to doubt—namely that artificial contraception is contrary to natural law.

While some theologians may privately claim the contrary, the panel members said there is no room for Catholics in practice to use artificial means of birth control, including the oral pill, traditionally forbidden by the church.

The birth control and marriage resolution approved by the Pope spells this out in clear terms, the sources said.

Welch Named To Workmen's Court

Gov. Frank Morrison Tuesday appointed Omaha Attorney Lawrence F. Welch to an eight-year term as a judge on the Nebraska Workmen's Compensation Court, effective immediately.

Welch, 57, the acting Omaha municipal judge since March, served on the Workmen's Compensation court bench for a six-year period in the 1940's.

The last Legislature passed a bill increasing the size of the Workmen's Compensation Court from three to four judges. The judges' annual salaries of $11,000 each will be increased to $13,000 on Jan. 1, 1967.

Oil Men Licensing Proposed

Ord (AP)—An Omaha independent oil promoter told the Legislature's Oil and Gas Committee that he thought the state commission should have authority to license promoters in the state.

Shay Benimato made the comment in reply to a question from Chairman Cecil Craft of the legislative committee.

Craft then asked if it would be wise to limit the amount of money a promoter could collect to the actual cost of drilling.

Benimato replied that promoter's cost exceeds that and suggested a limitation of 65% of all costs.

Benimato of Omaha suggested that geologists' reports be preserved; that the duties of the Oil and Gas Conservation Commission be more clearly defined; and that there be an organization to supervise oil promoters who would pay an annual fee to the organization.

Ladd V. Tesar, Omaha attorney representing an oil exploration firm, said he felt present laws on fraud are adequate.

Oral Koelling, Ord cattle Feeder and farmer, who described himself as a "sucker investor in the oil business," declared "we feel and know we have been swindled."

He suggested that promoters be bonded and that the names of investors in wildcat operations with multiple ownership be kept on file by the commission. He suggested that there be a limit on the amount that may be invested.

H. N. Rhodes, executive secretary of the commission, told the committee that the commission is not now a regulatory body and if it were made one, it would be the first such in the nation and would require additional staff.
